The cheerleaders await the opening kickoff before the Kecoughtan football game. The game was played on the Friday before the opening of school.

Some Seniors get "into" the spirit of things in preparation for the Bethel football game. Although the game was not a home game, the pep rally was an attempt to get the student body involved in school activities.

REMEMBER WHEN

we first entered Phoebus as Sophomores. Some of us were scared while others were excited about "finally being in high school."

Remember when we went to our first football game as Sophomores. Even though some of us had gone to games during junior high, it wasn't the same. We seemed more enthusiastic because it was "our" team playing.

Remember when we had homecoming week, and everyone wore crazy outfits. Some people felt embarrassed about dressing for the days, while others went all out in their costumes. Of course a few of us didn't want to bother trying anything, "daring and unique." This of course was understandable. Not everyone has the same tastes.

Remember when we moved up to Juniors. It was nice not being the youngest grade in school. But with becoming Juniors came the responsibility of grades, classes, PSAT's, SAT's and future plans. For some it was hard to withstand the pressure; others handled it well.

Senior Kenny Harris proudly shows off his cafeteria uniform. He got the job working in the cafeteria through the Health Services and the Home Economics Department.

Sophomores Terri Finnell and Roberta Moseley perform an experiment in Biology class. They scraped tissue from their mouth and studied the cells under a microscope.

Tom Casey receives instructions from Coach Al Woods on the defensive backfield alignment against Kecoughtan. Phoebus won its opening game 19-6.

REMEMBER WHEN we finally made it as Seniors. The relief of our last year was tremendous. But of course, other items were added to our "responsibility lists": Senior fees, portraits, caps and gowns, graduation, college applications and college acceptance. The list was endless.

For those of you who haven't made it to "Junior or Senior" yet, you can see what you have to look forward to. Then you also can say, "Remember When . . ."

Tracy Chappell gets in shape for tennis by "jumping" rope. Practice started August 10 for all the fall sports.

David Fahrenkrug and Paulette Parise perform an experiment in chemistry on physical and chemical changes. The experiment was changing copper into copper oxide.

The band is shown here performing at Disney World, Florida. Each band member helped raise funds for the trip.

David Silverthorne and Pat Watts are shown playing at an early pep rally. The cheerleaders and drummers lead the rally in preparation for the Hampton football game.

STUDENT LIFE

Tom Casey strikes a "sexy" pose. He dressed for 50's day to express his spirit, along with his guts!

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

We came to Phoebus that first day and nobody could find their classes. Then once you found your class, you sat and waited for a familiar face to enter the room. Since nobody did, you were forced to make new friends, but now you're glad you did.

Remember when you went to the first Pep Rally and sat with your new friends, confused. However, you finally figured out what a spirit stick was and did some cheers for your class. At that time, you swore that your class was going to be the best one to hit Phoebus. And then you found yourself involved.

Remember when you came to school on the first day of Homecoming week. You entered the building to see cheerleaders dancing in the mall, band members playing the drums and students wearing pajamas. You and your friends decide that you too can show your spirit and for the rest of the week you laugh at each other's costumes. Then there was the big homecoming parade, bonfire, dance and the football game. After this week you decide that you have really grown to love Phoebus in the past months.

And last Remember When the year had passed and the last day of school arrived. Remember all the phone calls you promised to make and all the times you promised to go out. We will all cherish these memories of Phoebus throughout our life.

Seniors show their spirit at pep rally. This show of enthusiasm won them the spirit stick.

Valerie West looks as if she's hard at work. She worked over the summer as a secretary for the Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Bainbridge.

Stand Up and Be Heard

Assassins Win Anything Goes Day

By Amy King, Mary Campbell

In celebration of Law Day U.S.A. on May 3, 1982, Phoebus High School held a "Stand Up For America" day. Most of the students, including the Marine JROTC and the band marched from the school to Fort Monroe. Students wearing red, white, and blue and carrying Stand Up For America signs, followed the band down Ireland Street, left on Mercury and through downtown Phoebus until they reached the Gazebo on Fort Monroe. There they were entertained by the band, the ensemble chorus group, and listened to speakers from the community.

On June 7, 1982, Phoebus High School students and faculty got together for Almost Anything Goes Day. The day started at 9:00 a.m. and went until 2:40 p.m. Organizations set up booths that sold food, prizes, shots at teachers and teacher memorabilia. Events between classes went on during the day, including softball, killerball, Volkswagen car push, tug of war and the obstacle course. The Juniors (who are now Seniors) won over all. The day was sponsored by the S.C.A. who made a profit of $1,000.

William Doswell and Steve Russell wrestle in the mud. This was not a scheduled event, rather a spontaneous action by students.

Phantoms show their patriotism by marching to Ft. Monroe on Stand Up For America Day. The march started at school and went through downtown Phoebus to Ft. Monroe.

Students are shown walking to Fort Monroe. The flags and signs were carried to show the students patriotism.

We Are Here

by Lisa Weihl

Well we've finally made it through our years of high school. I can still remember the first day I walked through the entrance of Phoebus three years ago. I felt mixed emotions of fear and excitement; the fear of being in a new school with unfamiliar faces and the excitement of finally being in high school.

Through the years, we have learned more than just our courses. We learned the value of friendship, the feeling of achievement and satisfaction in accomplishing a great task, and the feelings of humiliation and disappointment when we let ourselves down.

We've made it. We've struggled within ourselves to get here, and at this point, no one can take this feeling of success away from us. Congratulations Class of 83 ... we've finally made it!

Post 48 Hosts Miss Phoebus

by Jennifer Dougherty

In October, 15 girls from Phoebus High School took part in the tenth annual "Miss Phoebus Pageant." All of the girls were sponsored by Phoebus merchants, who paid for the girls banners, entrance fee, and flowers.

As participants, the girls were subject to an interview with five judges. During the interview, the girls were graded on a scale of one to ten, on their personality.

After the preliminary interview came the rehearsals. The entrants practiced walking on make-shift ramps. Despite a few minor difficulties (Doni's ankle is fine now), the girls practiced walking until they felt confident.

Finally, the big night arrived. The American Legion was transformed into a fashion arena. The girls first participated in a street-length dress showing. During this event they were scored on poise.

The second half of the pageant was the evening gown competition. The judges now scored the girls on beauty.

Between these competitions, the clamor in the 4' by 4' dressing room was something more than chaotic. The conversation sounded something like this:

Doni Cole: "Where's my flower? I'm not supposed to have a white one!"

Jean Dougherty: "I forgot my slip! Are the lights shining from the front or behind?"

Mary Dorsey: "It doesn't matter. Either way they'll see right through your gown!"

Charlene Earheart: "I can't find my brush! Just look at my hair!"

Robin Dunn: "Can you tell I'm not wearing a bra?"

Paula Coffey: "Yes!"

Conny Loobey: "I'm so scared!"

Wendy Jones: "Are our parents going to disown us if we loose?"

Rose Sanzo: "Robin, we're wearing the same gown!"

Evelyn Sanzo: "I can't find my shoes!"

Hollie Smith: "Is Jeff here yet?"

Lisa Wehl: "I don't know, is Paul?"

Nina Reamer: "What say we chuck it all and go to Chi Chi's?"

But they did it, and quite well at that. Rose and Doni won first and second runner up. Gay Andrucci, an alumnae at Phoebus, won "Miss Congeniality."

Most of the girls stayed for the dance and party afterward, and they all participated in the parade the next day.

The ordeal was an experience for most of the girls. Some are already looking for clothes for the next year's pageant!

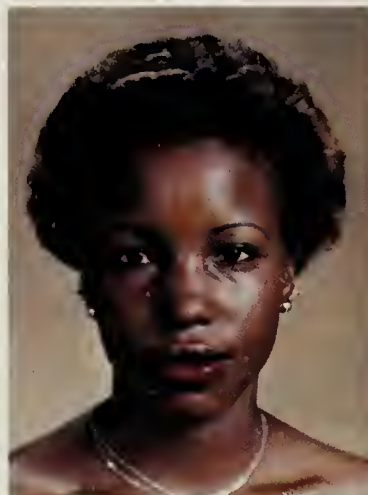

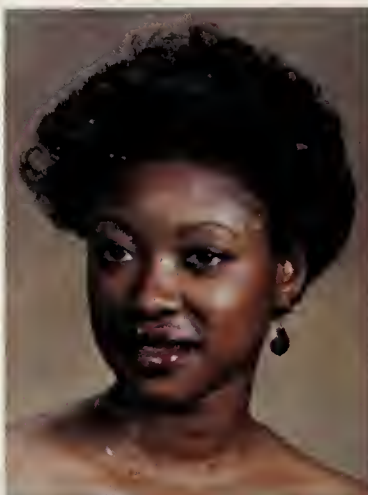

Phoebus students Nina Reamer, Charlene Earheart, Lisa Wehl, and MaryJo Dorsey are shown waiting for the pageant to begin. The event took place at the American Legion Post 48.

Robin Dunn is shown putting the finishing touches on her outfit. A quick glance in the mirror to make sure everything is perfect before she makes her walk down the platform.

Life Before School

by Linda Heffers

Getting ready for school. How every student hates this repulsive, annoying duty. The worst part about it is getting out of the bed. Yea, I know it's hard, but it has to be done. I feel if the students are required by law to be at school, we should at least have a machine to get us up and ready. But everyone knows schools were put on earth just to give teenagers a headache.

Headaches, we've all had them. Now how many times have you acquired a headache because nothing goes right. Like my fictional character Besty Sue.

Every morning Besty Sue drags herself out of bed and into the bathroom. Turns on the cold water, and sticks her head under. Suddenly, she wakes up! She then proceeds to take her shower. Already she knows its going to be one of those days. The hot water isn't working and its not exactly summer outside. After that terrifying experience she goes into the bedroom to discover that the dog has chewed her best pair of jeans. She has sworn that the dog is permanently going to sleep.

Searching endlessly for something to wear and something to kill the dog with, she notices that she only has ten minutes to do her hair. Now she's really mad at the dog. Over and over she tries to do something with her mop, but it ends up looking worse each time. Finally it looks half way decent.

Breakfast time! She can't wait, then again she has to. The cat has decided to try her blueberry pancakes.

Now she's absolutely furious! She figured she better get out of the house before something else goes wrong. She grabs her books and stomps outside. Hoping both the dog and cat accidentally get in her way. So she can stomp on them. "No such luck," she says to herself.

Brooommm . . . the school bus passes her by. The dog, cat, and bus driver are definitely on her hit list. Besty Sue is forced to walk to school. She is only half an hour late when she arrives. Which in return she receives one day of detention. As she walks into first period she said to herself, "things could only get better . . . please!"

Getting ready for school. Is it really worth it?

Shelley Walker is shown here rushing to put on her make-up. Getting her brother and sisters ready for school keeps her occupied each morning.

Ready For School?

by Linda Heffers

Did you ever wonder what a guy, or in this case a boy in high school does to get ready for school? Not much actually, but then do boys ever do anything? No, not too often.

There are a few boys though who do attempt to make an improvement before school. But believe me it is nothing compared to what the women have to do.

Most boys jump out of bed around ten minutes till 8:00 and throw on anything, probably the same pair of jeans they've worn for the past month. They run down the stairs and stuff cereal in their mouth or whatever it is they eat. Then they're off to school.

Ever wonder why boys are so tired and look like they've never slept? Well, if you didn't wash your face in the morning, you'd look the same.

But then you have those boys who spend endless hours in the bathroom, looking in the mirror trying to find a hair they can shave off. They come to school in a bad mood because they had to borrow their moms' tweezers to pluck the two they found.

However, to the joy of us women, the boys slowly find their way to school. Maybe some of them will read this article and make it a learning experience. We women can only hope!

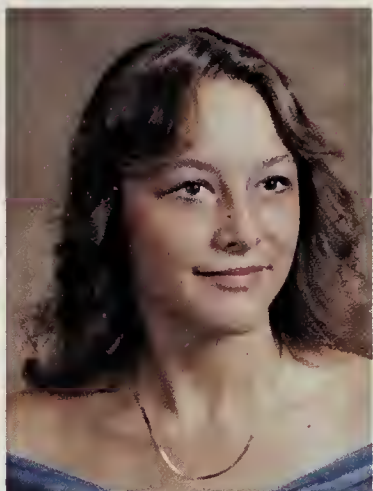

Bruce Davis gets in his early morning shave before school. It is important that guys look "sharp" for classes.

Artist At Work

by Sharon Goodwin

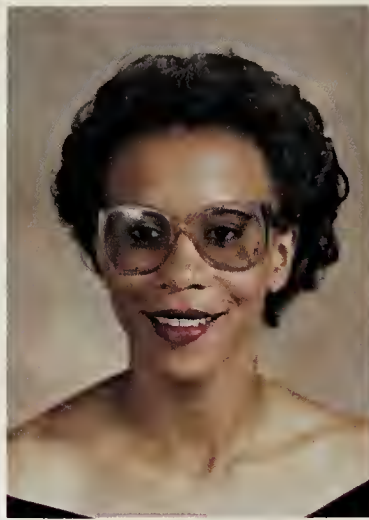

Senior Lorraine Hudgins, got interested in art in second grade and she has been drawing, photographing and painting ever since. Lorraine enjoys competing as much as doing the artwork, itself. She has achieved many awards including 3rd place in the Senior City Hall Contest, first place in the George Washington Carver Contest, first place in the Drugs and Alcohol Poster Contest and first place in the What Makes Me Smile Contest which went on to local, district and received an award of Merit at State.

Lorraine plans on attending V.C.U. and is now in the process of working on a portfolio. She is also planning on applying for several National Scholarships.

Lorraine Hudgins sketches her preliminary design in pencil on the canvas. She is an accomplished artist having won numerous awards.

After School Life

by Karen Moody

The countdown begins: 5, 4, 3, 2, 1, ring! Thank heavens for the bell and the end of another school day. Work, tests, and more work all day long, but when it finally comes to an end, what do students do after school?

After standing out in front of the school to catch up on the daily gossip, each girl gets into her car and off on her own way. Some girls you will find glued to the T.V. set, watching General Hospital or some other popular soap. There are girls who stay after school and participate in various activities, such as basketball, cheerleading, and go to meetings dealing with the different clubs.

Everyday, one can always anticipate seeing a guy with his ears perched, waiting for the afternoon announcements, knowing this is the sign of the closing of another school day. Then the bell rings and there is a mad dash for the doors.

Some guys can be found in the weight room, lifting weights in hopes of improving their physiques. Others participate in various sports and/or clubs. There are many guys whose only choice is to go from a hard day at school to a hard night at work.

Twice a week he works out with his weights. Mac Eason is shown bench pressing 300 lbs. In December he plans to work a body building competition.

Usually Mary Campbell prepares dinner for her husband, but today she had the chance to get some reading done.

Student Labs

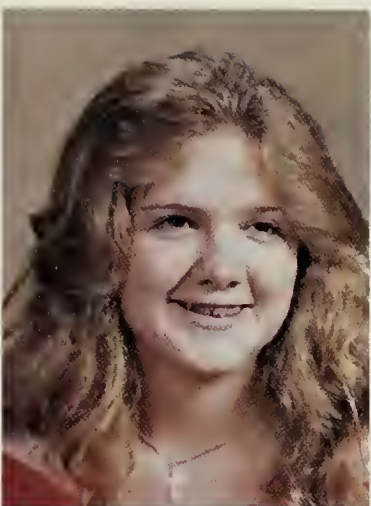

Experiments play an important part in the life of students enrolled in science classes. Performing experiments shows students the importance of the scientific method as well as giving the hands an experience with the equipment available.

Students in Biology dissect frogs, worms, flowers and use the microscope to learn the various parts of the organisms. Chemistry and Physics students perform experiments in physical and chemical changes in various substances, while students in Physiology dissect cats and study enzymes and various parts of the human anatomy.

John Hurlock and Tanya Person perform a Physics experiment using the force table. The experiment is to determine the equilibrant force using three or more forces.

Fall Homecoming

Judi Bowman Elected Queen

by Lori Shaler

Homecoming Week started off in a spirited fanfare as posters and streamers decorated the school, and as students dressed up in unique, original outfits. Judging of the outfits was conducted each morning, with yearbooks awarded by the S.C.A. to first, second, and third place winners. On Pajama Day, many students ran around in nightgowns and pajamas; it appeared that these spirited individuals had forgotten to get dressed before coming to school.

The atmosphere of another era prevailed on 50's Day, when saddle shoes, bobby socks, letter sweaters, slicked-back hair, and leather jackets were rampant. The following day, about 350 students and faculty used their imaginations and dressed as wild as possible for New Wave Day. After school, a dance was held in the mall with music by Joe Smooth, giving students and faculty a chance to socialize.

See Homecoming page 76.

Lori Shaler and Sandy Burgess contemplate a Calculus problem. They were dressed up for New Wave Day and Lori took first place.

Wednesday afternoon the S.C.A. sponsored a dance. Jodie Harris is shown "getting down" during the New Wave dance.

Money Or Life Of Leisure

Last summer many of the Seniors were working, while the lucky ones were at the beach, or watching the soaps. You're probably saying to yourself, "why on earth would someone want to waste a summer working?"

Well folks, it's like this. Mummy and Daddy decided to make Junior support himself.

Paul Owens just plain needed the money, but Karen Moody, who worked at Hampton General Hospital, needed the experience for college. Lisa Weihl liked having the money, but was actually saving for college.

All and all most of the Seniors told me they worked for the same thing — "money." But honestly, I'd rather live off of Mummy and Daddy for a while.

Felisa Copling is shown working at McDonalds. She's been there a year says she likes the money.

Eric Lundgren hauls a 300 lb. block of ice to be loaded for shipment. The physical labor kept him in shape for wrestling.

Is Education Free?

by Lisa Weihl

As most students reach their Senior year, they are confronted with the task of paying money for various things in order to prepare for graduation.

Such payments made by Seniors are class dues (which pay for caps and gowns), pictures, graduation, announcements, and expenses for the prom. Although Senior pictures, announcements, and the Prom are not necessities, most Seniors pay for them.

Linda Heffers puts the finishing touches on Keith Barnes' bow tie as Andre Bell looks on. Keith and Andre were waiting to have their Senior portraits taken.

Is this really free education, when a person has to pay a $15.00 book fee for only one or two books? This fee is not refundable and does not cover losses which are the responsibility of the students.

The cost of graduation can total more than $200 easily.

Graduation is the moment all Seniors have been waiting for. For some it means off to college and for others it means finding a job.

The Senior Prom is an expensive night for couples. The cost of the Prom can run upward to $100.

Seniors Roybn Roberts and Lisa Letzelter appear to be enjoying themselves during the pep rally for the Warwick football game. The Seniors won the spirit stick for showing most class spirit.

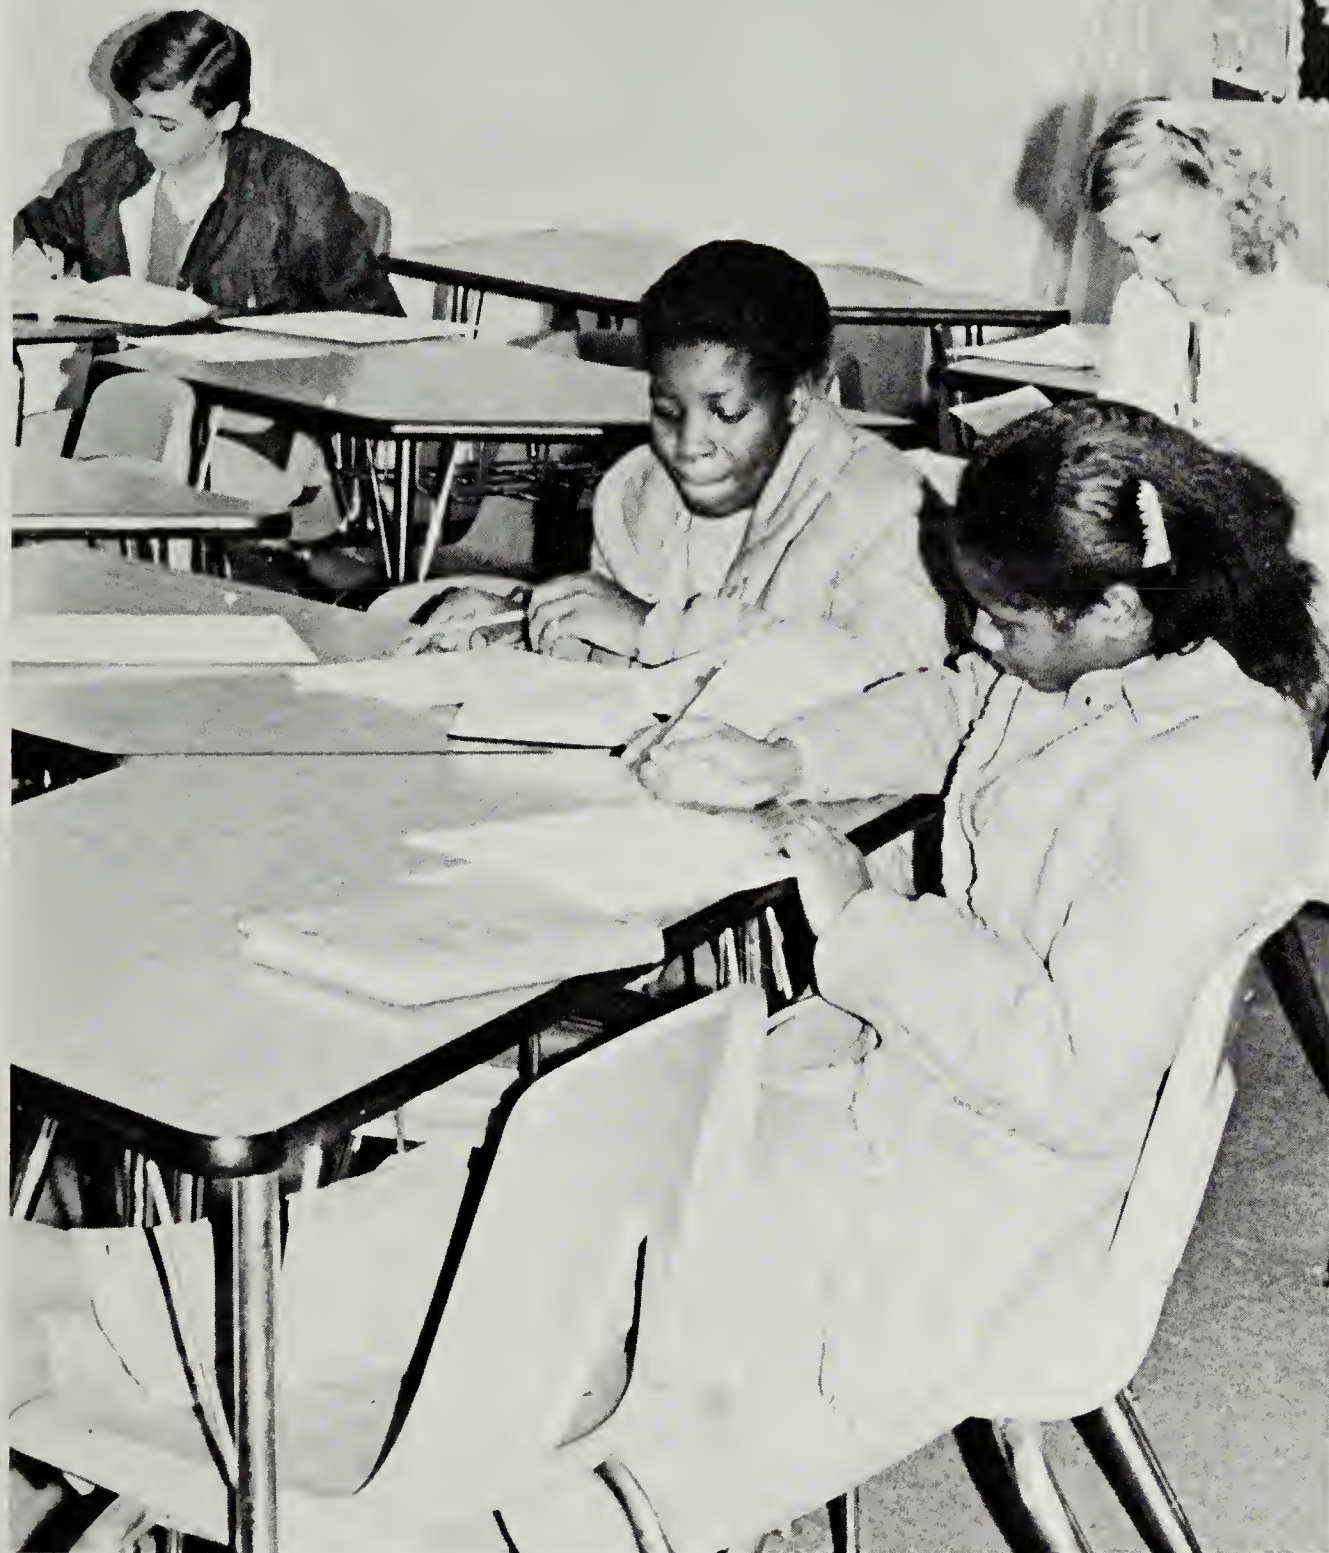

Blue and Gold Day enabled students to dress up and decorate themselves in different ways. This day was the final day of Homecoming week which ended with the Homecoming football game against Warwick.

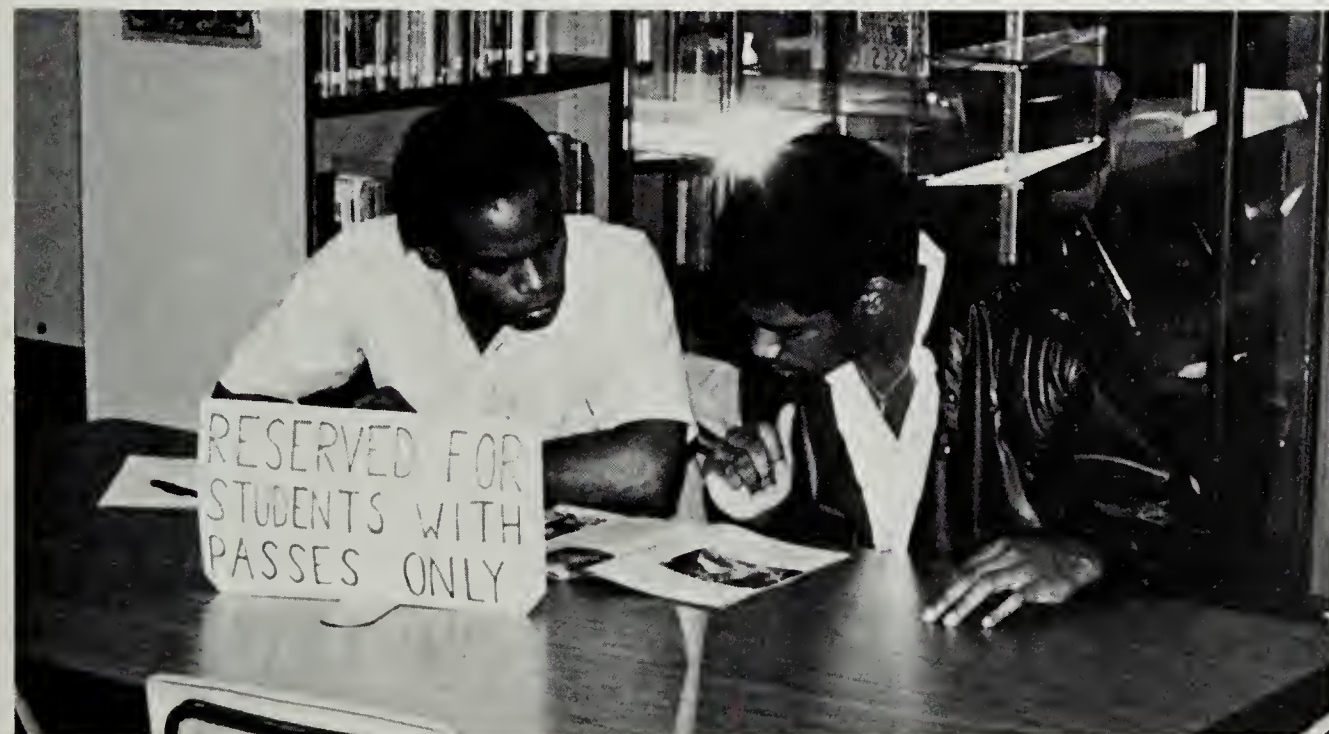

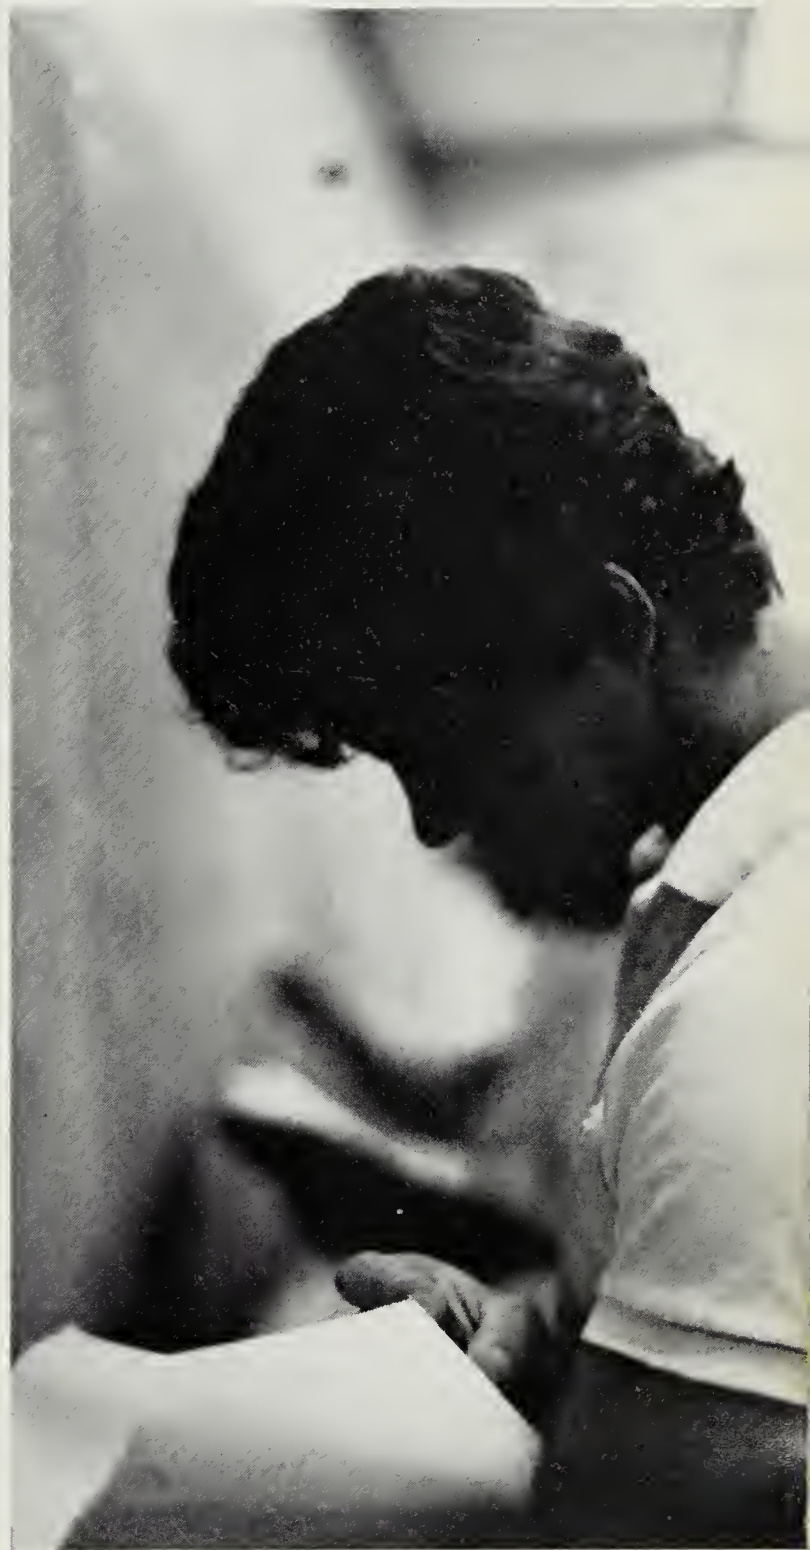

The Holly Ball was a project of the SCA, Key Club and Keyettes. Karen Moody dances with Haddle Dryden while David Ulmet dances with Tobi Cole.

Identify
 some of these moments in sports

The "Ransom Toys for Tots" concert did not appeal to all the students. Mrs. Barbara Thomas kept Tim Jaggers, Francoise Coimin and Lanni Lindsay in class as they elected not to pay to go to the concert. Mike Lawrence looks through his homework for a trig problem. Students often put homework problems on the board and explain how they arrived at their solution.

Welcome to Phoebus, the school we hope is the cleanest and friendliest in the city. Because of its open-class rooms Phoebus is the unique high school in Hampton. Once thought to resemble a "prison" from the outside, Phoebus is noted for its colorful interior as both students and teachers have taken part in the interior beautification. Also, a committee was formed to improve the exterior appearance of the school grounds. Trees and shrubs were planted in the hope that the outside would also be pleasing to the eye.

Lawrence Walker and Donald Richardson look over a magazine in the library. The library stocks books magazine, and newspaper and records which students can check out for their use.

Juniors Look Ahead

Remember when the summer flew by and we found that it was time to go back to school? Remember how we said, "This year we're Juniors and we're going to be the best Junior Class ever."?

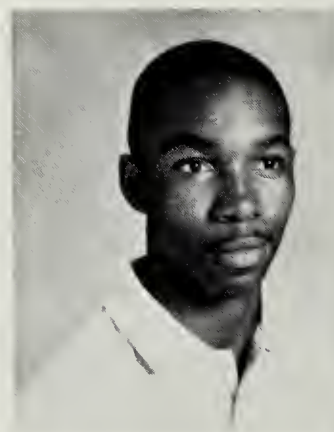

We came back to school showing the sophomores how to get around Phoebus. It seems odd to be escorting them around when just a year ago, we were in their position. We were proud to be known as Juniors instead of Sophomores and we were one step further to every teenagers destination; graduation.

So we stumbled through the toughest year of high school by becoming active once again in the clubs we had left for the summer.

Finally graduation day arrived and as the old Seniors walked away with their memories and Diplomas, we began to dream of our Senior year. We realized that we had made it to the top, we were Seniors.

A Band And Their Music

The Marching Symphonic and Concert Bands at Phoebus provided an opportunity for students to share in a "musical experience with many others" says Mr. Al Morris, director.

The most important aspect of the band is the music because of the numerous performances in which they participated every year.

Science Department Enriches Students

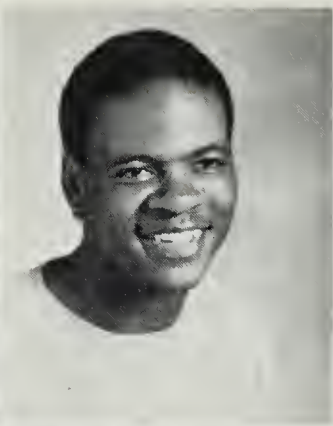

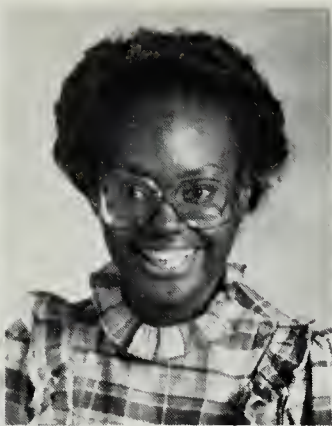

The Science program of Phoebus High School is committed to adequately prepare students for today's scientific advancements. The requirements to graduate from High School include one year of Biology. If a student wishes to expand their science curriculum, they may take Biology, Chemistry, Physics and Physiology. These courses are designed for every student by having introductory, average and advanced courses. The chairman of the department is Mrs. Ann Tucker.

Stephanie Haynesworth, Demetris Robinson, Gretchen Merriitt and Patricia Soltys participate in a Physiology lab. One of the labs was to identify the parts of a cat.

Like to Cook and Sew?

The Home Economics program at Phoebus High School strives to prepare students for personal fulfillment, family and community living and employment in food service occupations. Students are encouraged to participate in developing their skills for occupations of homemaker and wage earner.

In order to meet the needs of the students, a complete consumer and home-making program is offered. Within these programs are Homemaking I and II, Food Management, and Housing and Interior Design. These two-year programs offer students many skills upon graduation. Both programs provide stimulated work experience within the classroom and on the job training.

Althea Freeman, Donnel Jones and Dawn Martin prepare the food for the Dinner theatre "Nightwatch". Much preparation went into getting the food ready for Friday and Saturday night's buffet.

Que Pasa Aqui?

At Phoebus High School the emphasis in the Foreign Language Department is on teaching the various languages primarily as a means of communication. Emphasis is placed on listening, speaking, reading, and writing in all the languages, except Latin which is taught in the traditional method.

Each language classroom at Phoebus High School has been decorated with visuals such as posters or paintings. Teachers may use films, cassettes, and native guest speakers to help the students learn of the culture. Additionally, foreign foods are introduced and consumed for cultural enrichment.

Here at Phoebus High School, taking a foreign language is not required of the student but the college bound student is advised to take at least two years of a language.

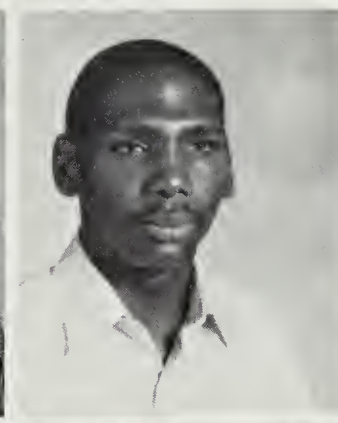

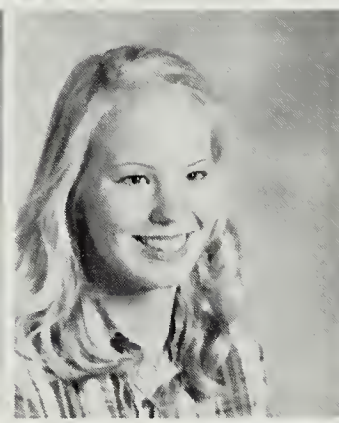

Sherri Mitzel, Trygve Matsuda and Phil Hunt use the headphones as another method of learning a foreign language. They are in Mrs. Frazier's Latin class.

Mrs. Joyce Frazier supervises as Judy West and Myra Walker listen in on a bit of Latin.

How Not To Spend Time

Detention — does it serve a purpose? Students can get detention for any number of reasons — ranging from tardies to class to skipping.

Detention is worked off from 2:45-3:10 every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in room D-15, a business room. Under special circumstances, students may also serve their time from 7:30 - 7:55 each morning in the main office.

The door is closed promptly at 2:45 and no student is admitted after that time. Students must separate themselves and sit quietly for the period. Studying, sleeping, or just doing anything is permitted as long as no sound is uttered during the detention period. The faculty and Administration serve on a rotating basis, as caretakers.

If a person fails to show for detention, another day is added and if the absenteeism continues, suspension will follow.

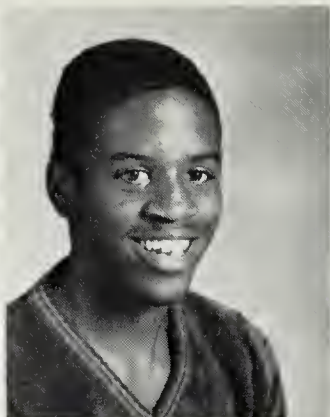

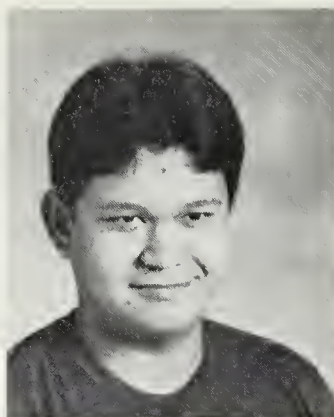

Otha Brown, Porter Jenkins, Antonio Blackley, Rodney Calhoun serve detention after school in room D-15. Detention lasts from 2:45 to 3:10.

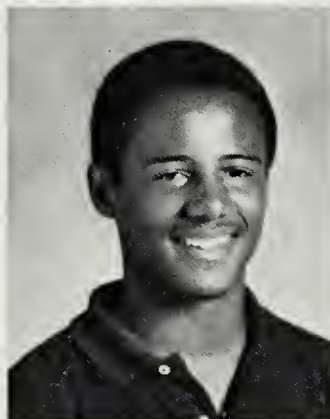

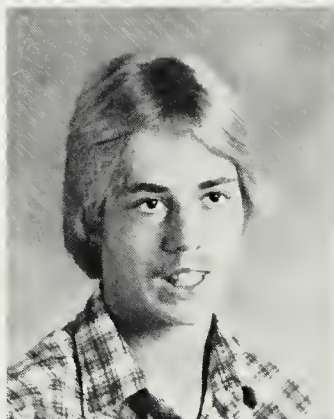

Sophomore James Banks is shown serving his detention in the main office from 7:30 till 7:55. Students must remain in the same place and not talk.

Child Care Serves Kids

The Child-Care program at Phoebus is designed to educate students who wish to learn about child development. It is a two-year course that lasts for two hours a day. The student starts the program in their junior year. They, also, receive two credits for this program.

Children between the ages of three and four attend the nursery which is run by this program. The Sugar and Spice Nursery School runs Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from 8:30-10:00. But the second semester hours will change to 9:30-12:00. The students teach the children in areas of cooperation, responsibility and creativity. In return the students have the chance to observe and experience the children. This will help them if they decide to pursue their careers in this field.

Cindy Insley helps some of the kids work on their tree decorations. Phoebus is the only school with a child-care program in Hampton.

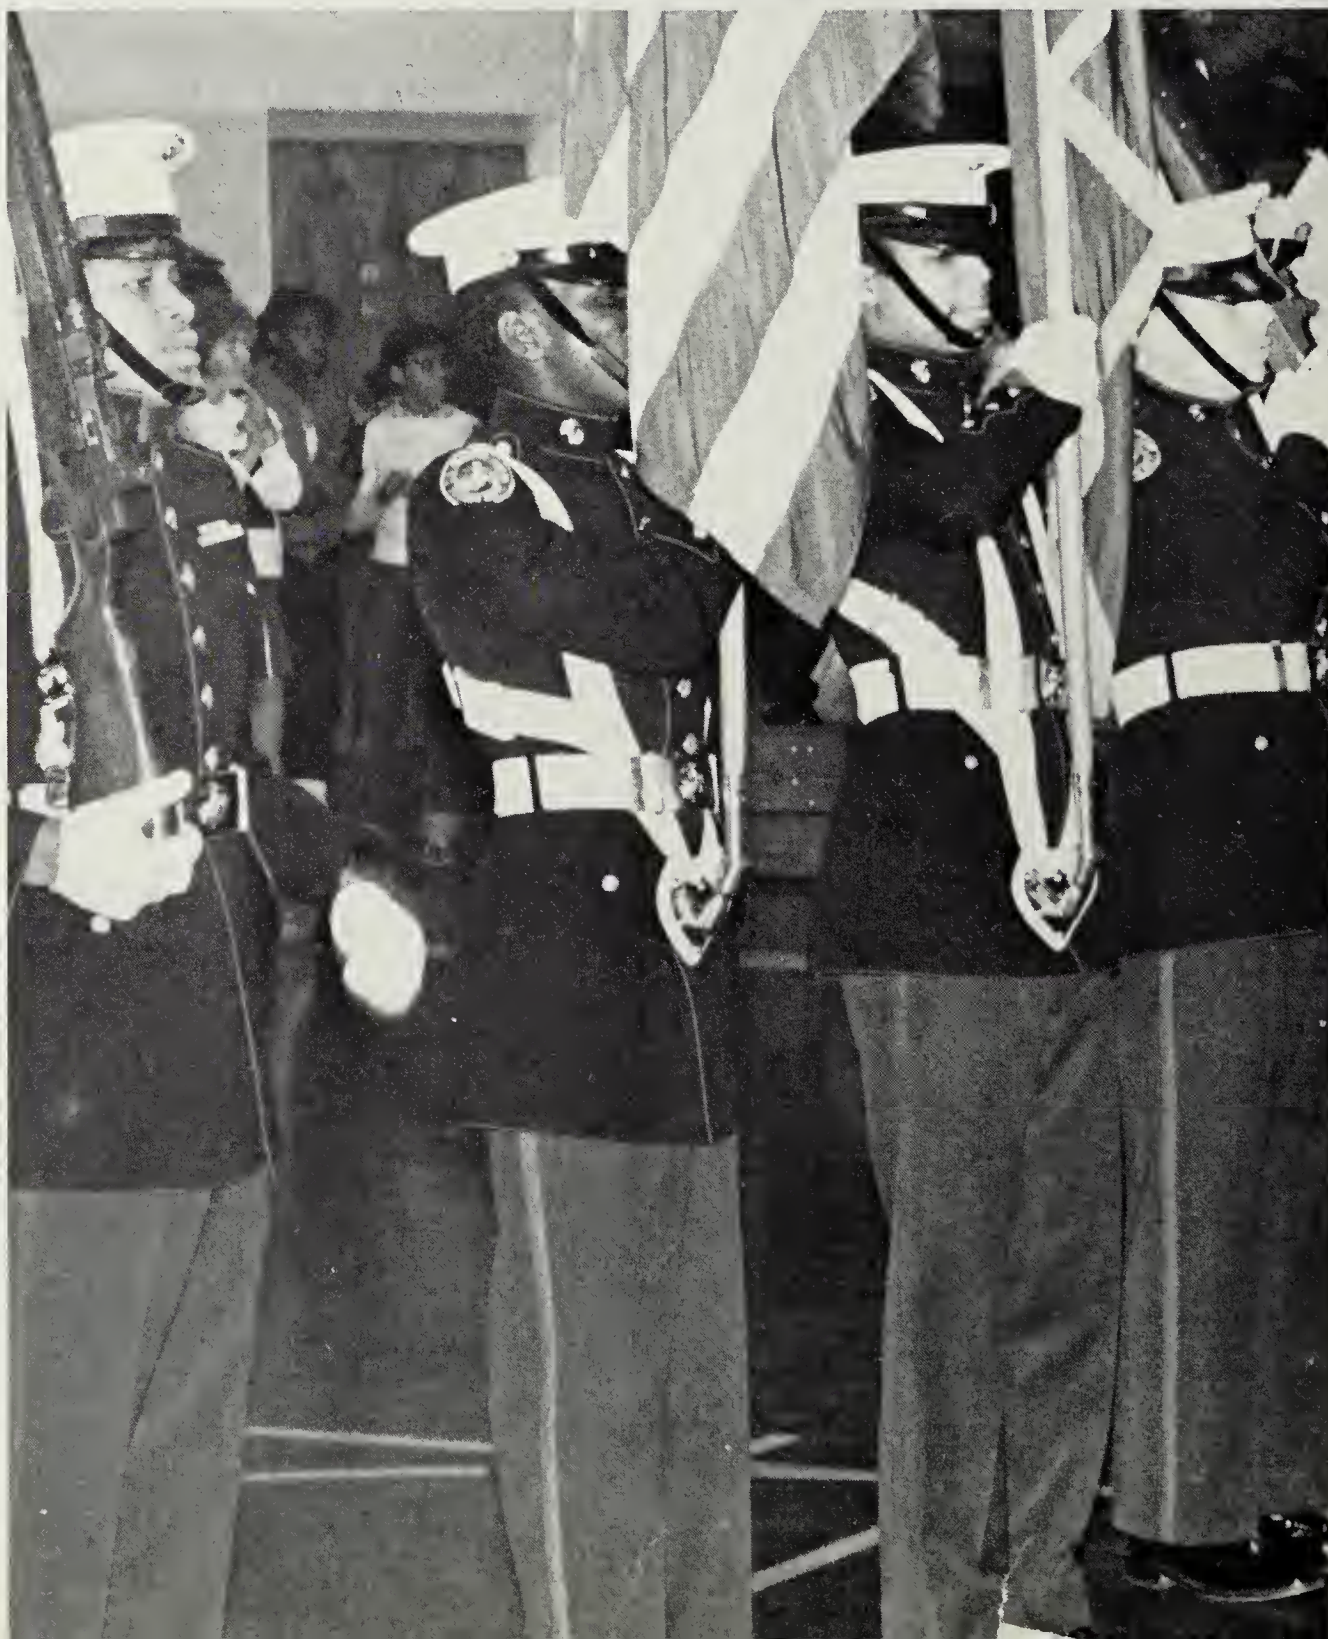

Brian Statton and Mary Campbell take care of early morning business in the main office as Mrs. Warnock and Mrs. Evans assist students. Students get bus tickets, lunch tickets and change to take them through the school day.

The Marine JROTC displayed the colors before each home basketball game this year. Shown are Robert Patterson, Kenny Outlaw, Tony Robinson and Robert Thibeault.

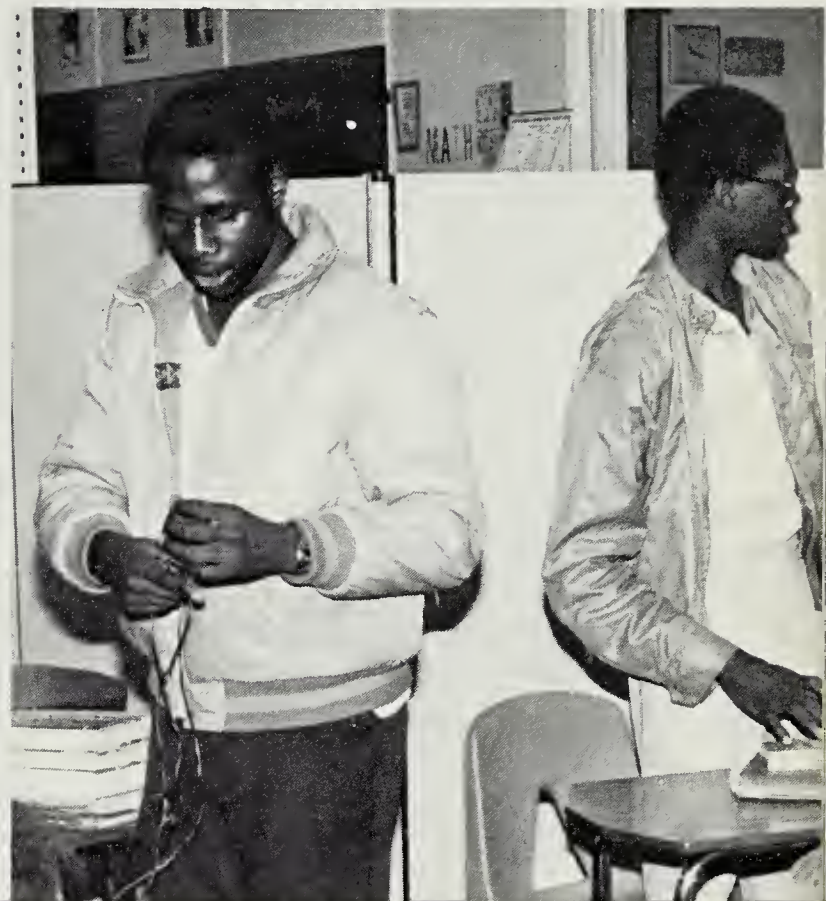

Variety of activities are available to students who take the opportunity to take advantage of them. Marine Corps JROTC gives both male and female students a taste of the military, while the food services class allows students a chance to experiment in the culinary. Sports activities are there for students to either participate or spectate. Whatever your interest, it can generally be found in the school.

Niketa and Dee Dee Toliver look over the morning bulletin before they begin their first period. They are in the food services class and were getting ready the buffet dinner for "Nightwatch."

Arnold Doswell and Rodney Dozier get ready to use calculators in their consumer math class. Consumer math helps to prepare students for math problems they will encounter in everyday life.

Lillian Dudley and Shannon Hartsell relax before their classroom is opened in the morning. This little bit of "free time" allows them to prepare for the coming day's activities.

Myron Francisco, Anna Taylor, and Anita Powell helped support the basketball team at the Homecoming game against Kecoughran. Unfortunately the team lost the game.

Sophomores Remember

Remember when we came to Phoebus the first day and couldn't find our way around. After Junior High the place seemed enormous and we were no longer the upper classmen. The Juniors and Seniors seemed bigger than life. And then the experience of open classrooms. Where were all the windows — we needed to know what was going on in the "outside" world.

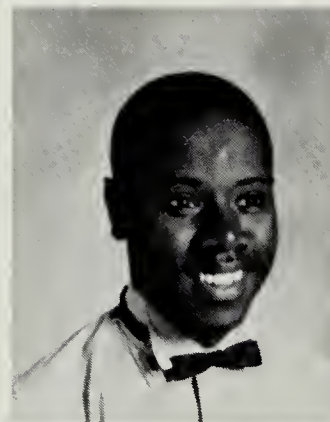

Remember our first football game in high school — everyone seemed amazed that we beat Ke-coughtan. And then we experienced our first pep rally. We were lost — what is a spirit stick?

But then, after a couple of months we started adjusting to our new environment. We seemed a part of everything. There were so many clubs and activities for us to participate in if we had the desire.

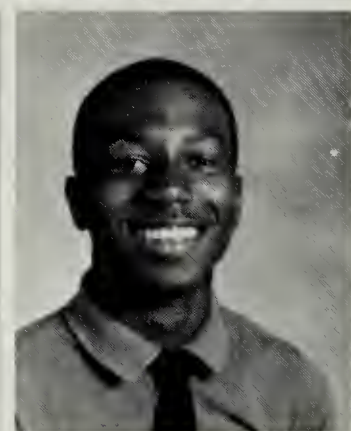

And now we are established here at Phoebus. We have overcome our Sophomore year and are looking forward to climbing the next rung on the ladder.

This past year has had its good times and bad times, but we will be able to look back and "remember when . . ."

Special Ed Provided

Special Education classes are provided for the emotionally disturbed, the educable mentally retarded and the speech and language impaired. The teachers work together to provide academic instruction according to each student's individualized education program.

The students are enrolled in the same classes unless they can substitute a regular class in which they have demonstrated the necessary skills, abilities and interests. The classes they must take are: Special English 10, 11, 12; Special Math 10, 11, 12; Special Social Studies 10; Pre-Vocational Training 10; Industrial Work Experience I 11, and II 12. The students may also take Special Science as an elective.

Porter Jenkins, Kevin Killons, Sandra Tweed and Mrs. Winter enjoy a math card skills game during class. Special services are provided to help students learn at their own pace.

Phoebus Students Honored

Dr. William Bainbridge, Superintendent of Schools, initiated the citizen of the month award to recognize special students in the system. Each month a member of each class from each high school is selected to represent that school at a luncheon given in their behalf.

Students are selected by the following criteria:

1. Scholarship
2. Character
3. Respect
4. Courteous
5. Responsible
6. Sportsmanship

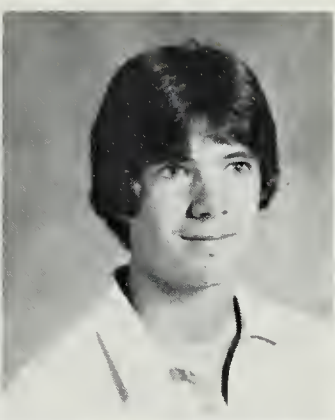

Each student receives a certificate recognizing him for his accomplishment.

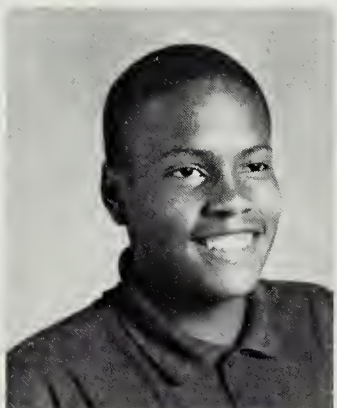

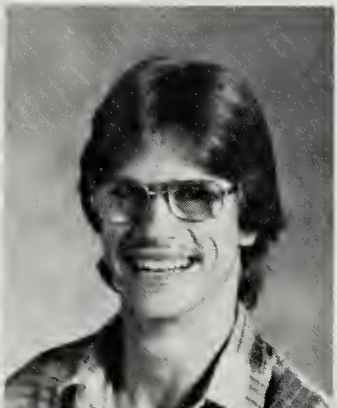

Sophomore Carolyn Bohi, sitting between Mr. Earl Simmons and Mayor Jimmy Eason, listens to the speech being presented by Dr. William Binbridge. Carolyn was selected Sophomore citizen of the month for December.

Mr. Bert Carr and Thu Phan listen to the proceedings at the December banquet held at the Chamberlin Hotel. Thu was the Senior selected from Phoebus High School.

Type Magic Fingers

The Business Department at Phoebus High School offers a wide selection of courses to provide all students who are interested in the business world the vocational and personal use in continuing a business education. The courses offered are General Business, Beginning Typewriting, Clerk Typist I and II, Stenography I and II, Data Processing I and II, Forkner Shorthand, Bookkeeping I and II, Personal Typing and Cooperative Office Education.

There is a vocational program which helps students acquire employment after graduation. Also, students who wish to continue their education, have the opportunity to have a job too. The program is also designed for those academic students who desire higher education in the business field. A concerned effort is made to keep the entire program flexible, to reach all ability levels, and meet individual needs.

Dale Thompson, Tracy Padgett and Sallie Marcello practice their typing in an advanced typing class.

Beginning typing classes must practice typing letters without looking at the keyboard. They also get practice by typing for speed and accuracy.

Sound Body, Sound Mind

The Physical Education Department at Phoebus High School provides a variety of activities to help maintain the physical as well as mental aspects of a student. The system is operated on a quarter system in which a student is required to take two quarters of gym before completing the twelfth grade. There are a wide variety of courses that one may select from such as tennis, archery, basketball, volleyball and many others.

The Health Department here at Phoebus is closely related to the Physical Education program. The student is required to participate in two courses which may be selected from a variety of areas. One may choose the class Disease or Careers in Health which can prove to become an asset to any students planning a career in the Health or Medical fields.

All objectives of the Physical Education and Health Departments are student oriented. These programs are designed to recognize as well as utilize the abilities and efforts of the individual.

Industrial Education

The trade and industrial education program of Phoebus High School are designed to teach the scientific processes necessary to acquire, validate, and store technological knowledge and skills necessary to perform basic tasks in a specified career field. The programs also provide, through a role-playing atmosphere, a chance for students to develop mutual regard, self-confidence and dependability.

The trade and industrial programs offer courses in electronics and in small engine repair to Juniors who complete senior year at the area vocational technical center, courses in industrial cooperative training for Juniors and Seniors. All courses carry the value of two credits.

Mr. Newell discusses electronics with his students, Kenneth Boone, Michael Wright and Steven Le-Clair.

Rodney Green and Robert Williams work on their projects. They are in Mr. Hinebaugh's industrial arts class.

Government Required

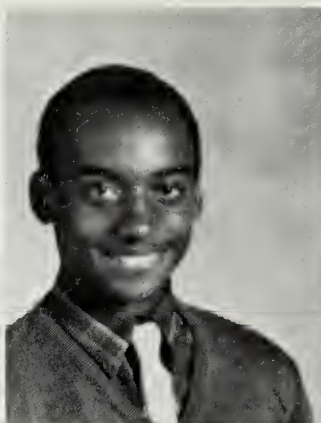

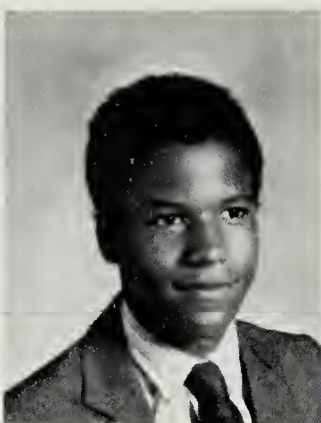

Phoebus High School's Social Studies Department is organized to present a balanced program in History and Social Sciences. It is designed to equip students with knowledge in these areas and with skills for participating in society as responsible citizens.

Juniors are required to take one year of History and take the minimum competency test at the end of the year. Seniors are required to take Government, but many students choose to take one more Social Studies for their elective. Miss Bonnie Tingle is the chairman of the department.

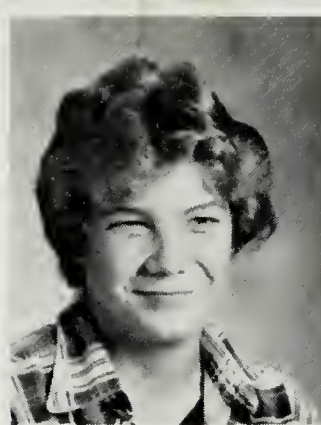

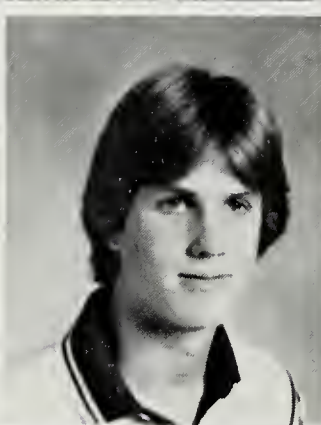

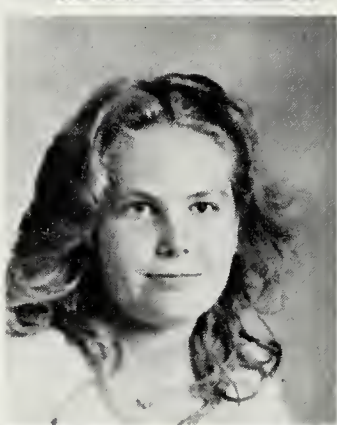

Mr. Ross Kearney is busy lecturing his government class. Government is required for all seniors. Mr. Kearney is also S.C.A. sponsor.

A Merry Christmas for Steve Crum

Steve Crum was the beneficiary of a new electric wheelchair as student of Phoebus and civic organizations raised over $3000 to give him an early Christmas present.

Donations were received from the following sources: SCA, Wythe Exchange, Hampton Hosts, Northhampton Lions, Ladies Northhampton Lions, Chesapeake Lions, Bethany Church, Phoebus Civic League, Hampton Elks, and Mr. Ralph Benthall. Many thanks to each for their help in this worthwhile project.

Steve, a sophomore, stricken with muscular dystrophy came to us from Lindsay Junior High. Since being at Phoebus, he has enjoyed his first football game, and pep rally. He says that he enjoys Phoebus and finds the students very friendly. We, the students, have also benefited from his presence.

Nurse James and Mr. Ballinger help Steve into his new wheelchair.

Steve tries out his new "hot rod" by speeding around the gym floor. Nurse James had a hard time keeping up with him.

Odd Couple With A Twist

by Carol Werner

For the spring production, Mr. Sylvest selected Neil Simon's "The Odd Couple." There was, however, a certain twist to Phoebus' production, the roles were switched from men to women. Instead of having men living together, playing poker and complaining about their wives, it was the other way around. The slovenly sports-writer, Audrey (Oscar) Madison was played by Conny Loobey with Carol Werner portraying her suicidal, nitpicking roommate, Phyllis (Felix) Unger. The resident poker players were Valerie West as Marie, Karen Moody as Speed, Nina Reamer as Rita, and Ruth Strong as Vinnie. The delightful Pigeon brothers, Cecil and Glen Pigeon, were played by Robert Klein (who is usually found behind the scenes) and Robbie Lloyd. Both productions were Phoebus' first Dinner Theatres. The spring performance was as equally successful as the December performance.

Besides sponsoring the plays, the Drama Club has a play reading committee. They read many plays trying to find ones that might go over well at Phoebus High School. By doing this the students have a hand in the selection of future plays. This years club worked on one act plays and acting exercises, hopefully preparing them for future theatre experiences.

Conny Loobey (Audrey) looks in as the poker players (Nina Reamer, Karen Moody and Valerie West) giggle over their poker game and Glenn, (David Tambling) Cecil (Robert Klein) and Phyllis (Carol Werner) debate about the comfort of the coach. Vinnie (Ruth Strong) is standing there totally unaware of what is going on, as usual. For this final scene Phyllis decided to go stay with the Pigeon brothers while looking for a new place to settle.

Phyllis (Carol Werner) shakes her fist at Audrey (Conny Loobey) in the "Rage of the London Broil." The two were battling about time, something of which Audrey was never really aware.

Phyllis (Carol Werner) looks on Glenn (David Tambling) Audrey (Conny Loobey) and Cecil (Robert Klein) with disgust. The two pigeon brothers came over for dinner, but the London Broil was burnt, because of Audrey's disregard for time.

Nina Reamer, as Rita, hesitates in her betting while Ruth Strong (Vinnie), Valerie West (Marie), Karen Moody (Speed) and Conny Loobey wait for her reply. This scene was the first of three scenes in which the poker players add variety, information, and humor to The Odd Couple.

Audrey (Conny Loobey) massages Phyllis's back as Phyllis remembers both the good and the bad of her marriage to Frank. The scene is part of the first act in which Phyllis moves in with Audrey after her marriage broke up.

Tobi Cole Elected Homecoming Queen

by Sharon Goodwin

Basketball Homecoming week was celebrated by the Phantoms January 10-14. The week started with Western Day and spirited Phantoms wore their cowboy hats and attire. Tuesday was Hobo Day and nominations for homecoming court were made. Career Day was Wednesday in which the students were to come dressed up as a profession. On Thursday, the students voted for their homecoming queen and dressed as their Favorite Idol. Friday was the traditional Blue and Gold Day, with a pep rally during the third period. At the rally the basketball team, wrestling team, indoor track team and gymnastics team were introduced and the 1983 Basketball Homecoming Court was announced. The students then rallied for the Spirit Stick with the Seniors winning it. After, a routine from the cheerleaders. Friday night the Basketball team fought hard to try and beat the Kecoughtan Warriors and by the half time and the crowning of the queen they were succeeding 32 to 27. Tobi Cole was crowned the 1982-1983 Homecoming Queen in front of a cheering crowd. She was escorted by her father Brian Cole. The game continued and was close, however, the Phantoms lost 63 to 59. A homecoming dance was held in the gym after the game until 12:00.

"Will the real Charlie Chaplin please stand up!" Thu Phan dressed up as Charlie Chaplin for Idol Day.

Tobi Cole reacts at being selected Homecoming Queen. It was announced during half time January 14, 1983. Mr. Brian Cole escorted Tobi.

Connie Loobey, dressed up as Marilyn Monroe, is shown here on Idol Day of Homecoming Week.

First half action at the Phoebus Homecoming game. Phoebus was leading 32-27.

The Soltys twins showed their spirit by dressing up for Idol Day. Patricia as Spider Man and Elizabeth as Adam Ant.

Homecoming Activities

by Lori Shaler

Spirit grew as the week continued. Sophisticated outfits were seen on Dress-Up Day, with one dozen roses awarded to the best-dressed girl and a tuxedo for the Prom to the best-dressed guy. After school, many students participated in decorating the halls for the class competition. Friday morning, teachers were surprised with yellow carnations from the S.C.A. Students were decked out in blue and gold. Spirit was rallied at the Pep Assembly, during which the Senior class received fifty dollars from the S.C.A. for the best-decorated hall. The class of 83 presented a skit and, for the greatest show of enthusiasm, won the spirit stick. During the parade that night, students marched alongside the band, flag twirlers, cheerleaders, and floats to encircle PHS and return for the bonfire. A chair was then burned in effigy. Many students went to the dance, again with music by Joe Smooth. The climax of the week was the Homecoming Game, in which Phoebus beat Warwick 27-0. In a cold, windy ceremony, Judi Bowman was crowned Homecoming Queen.

Judi Bowman is overwhelmed as she is named Fall Homecoming Queen. Judi was escorted by her father, Dr. Ollie Bowman.

Stacy Edwards, Mindy Ferguson, Lisa Newby, Lynda Conner, and Patrice Hamilton take part in the Homecoming Parade. The parade started at Phoebus, went down Pembroke Avenue and back to Phoebus.

Angie Foxe, Christina Carnegie, Karen Turner, Stacy Edwards, Dale Williams, Roderick Debrew, Lisa Newby, Patrice Hamilton, Shanda Crawford, Mindy Ferguson and Pam Williams await the announcing of the Queen.

Anthony Robateau, Eric Johnson, and Perry Davis stand aboard the DECA float. Theirs was the winning float in the contest.

Johnny James plays tenor sax during the pep rally. He wore the mask to be different during Homecoming week.

ADMINISTRATION/FACULTY

Dr. William Bainbridge Superintendent of schools addresses the students selected citizen of the month in their respective schools.

REMEMBER WHEN

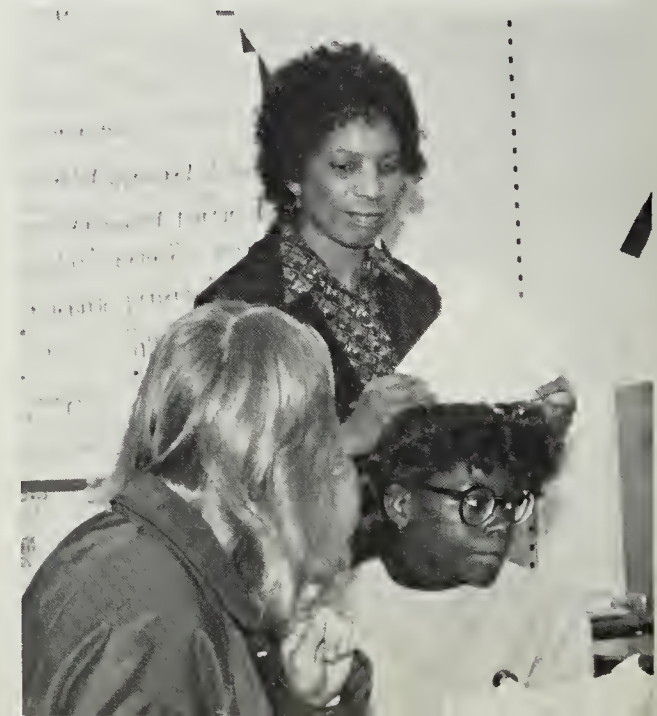

We had our first encounter with the Administrators. For some of us it was an enjoyable experience and for others it was the beginning of endless trips to the Deans or Assistant Principals for "action to be taken against us." Some of us were smart enough to learn to work within the system while the suspension list, for others, always seemed to have their name.

In most cases the faculty would make themselves available whenever we needed a helping hand or just someone to talk to. If we took the time, there was always someone there to help us work out the many problems that we could come up with.

Whether our experiences were good or bad, we will always be able to look back and "remember when . . ."

Mrs. Barbara Harris, Reading Specialist, checks over Jackie Kimbles work.

Administration meets faculty as Mrs. Arnetta Washington confers with Math Department Chairman, Mrs. Barbara Thomas. The Senior class owes a great debt to these two special persons for all the help and support they have provided during the past three years.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPALS: Mr. Richard Navickas, Administration; Mrs. Arnetta Washington, Instruction; Mr. R. Harry Bennett, Student Affairs.

OFFICE SECRETARIES: Mrs. Cindy Evans, Secretary to Principal; Mrs. Wardlaw Warnock, Bookkeeper; Mrs. Myrlan Taylor, Mrs. Sharon Forrest.

We Teach The Children

The staff is divided into ten departments. English, Math, and Science are the basic courses that each of us must take. In addition, opportunities are provided for us to experience courses from art to home economics, typing to woodshop.

If a student has particular interest, chances are that classes are offered in that field. The school system also provides vocational training for students whose interests may lie in areas such as auto-repair, masonry and cosmetology.

Mrs. Mary Berg tries to keep her sixth period Introductory Biology class busy. The last period of the day is a hard period for teachers to teach and students to learn.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

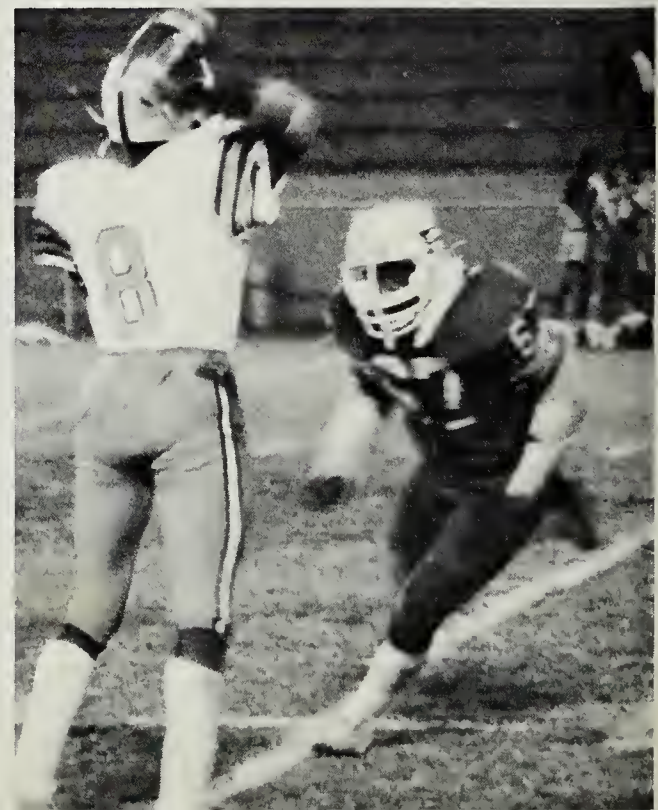

We went out for the first time and discovered it was not as easy as it looked. We didn't realize we would have to do all that conditioning.

Sports in the high school has something to offer any student willing to undertake the rigors of the training necessary for that sport. Little people, large people and anyone in between can take part in high school athletics.

Wrestling, gymnastics, track-these are just some of the sports that look for students of all sizes and shapes.

Males and females alike can take an active part in high school athletics. Scholarships are there if the athlete is good enough, besides the fact that a person will benefit by learning exercises and related activities that will help him in later life if he wishes to remain a conditioned athlete.

We've Got The Spirit

by Amy King

This year the cheerleaders seem to be the most spirited squad yet and they have proved this to be true. This summer they attended the N.C.A. (National Cheerleading Association) Camp at O.D.U. At the camp there were fifty-five squads and Phoebus High placed in the top five. They also received superior ribbons for every competition that they were in. This summer, they also entered the New Market South Cheerleading competition and received third place.

Many people took our cheerleaders for granted, but they worked just as hard as any of the other sports. A cheerleaders' week was always busy with practice three times a week and then the games on the weekends. They were involved in many other activities such as planning and participating in pep rallies, competitions, fund raising and cheering at other tournaments. All in all it was a very successful year for the squad.

Football Team Wins Opener 19-6

by Karen Moody

The Phoebus High School Football Team started out the season with 39 players. Our team was confident and hopeful that the season would prove to be a good one.

In our first game, the team ambushed Kecoughtan by a score of 19-6. Steve Johnson started the scoring in the second half by racing 15 yards around the right end into the end-zone. Hyon Chun Smith's extra point conversion gave Phoebus a 7-0 lead. Later in the fourth quarter, Phoebus marched 60 yards in 10 plays with Steve Johnson once again scoring for Phoebus. After a fumble from Kecoughtan at the Kecoughtan 2 yard line, Paul Jackson finished the scoring for the night.

Phoebus was defeated in their second game by the defending State Champion Hampton High School, 21-0.

Phoebus' next opponents were Marshall Walker High School who were ranked second in the state which made Phoebus the only team at the time to have played the number one and two ranked teams in the State back to back. Marshall Walker proved to be as good as their title and our team was defeated 32-3. Hyon Chun Smith's 33 yard field goal was the only Phoebus score.

The Phantoms came back in our fourth game with a shut out of 14-0 against Denbigh. James Savage proved to be the hero in this game scoring twice on passes by Paul Jackson. Hyon Smith's two extra point kicks also helped give Phoebus this dominating victory.

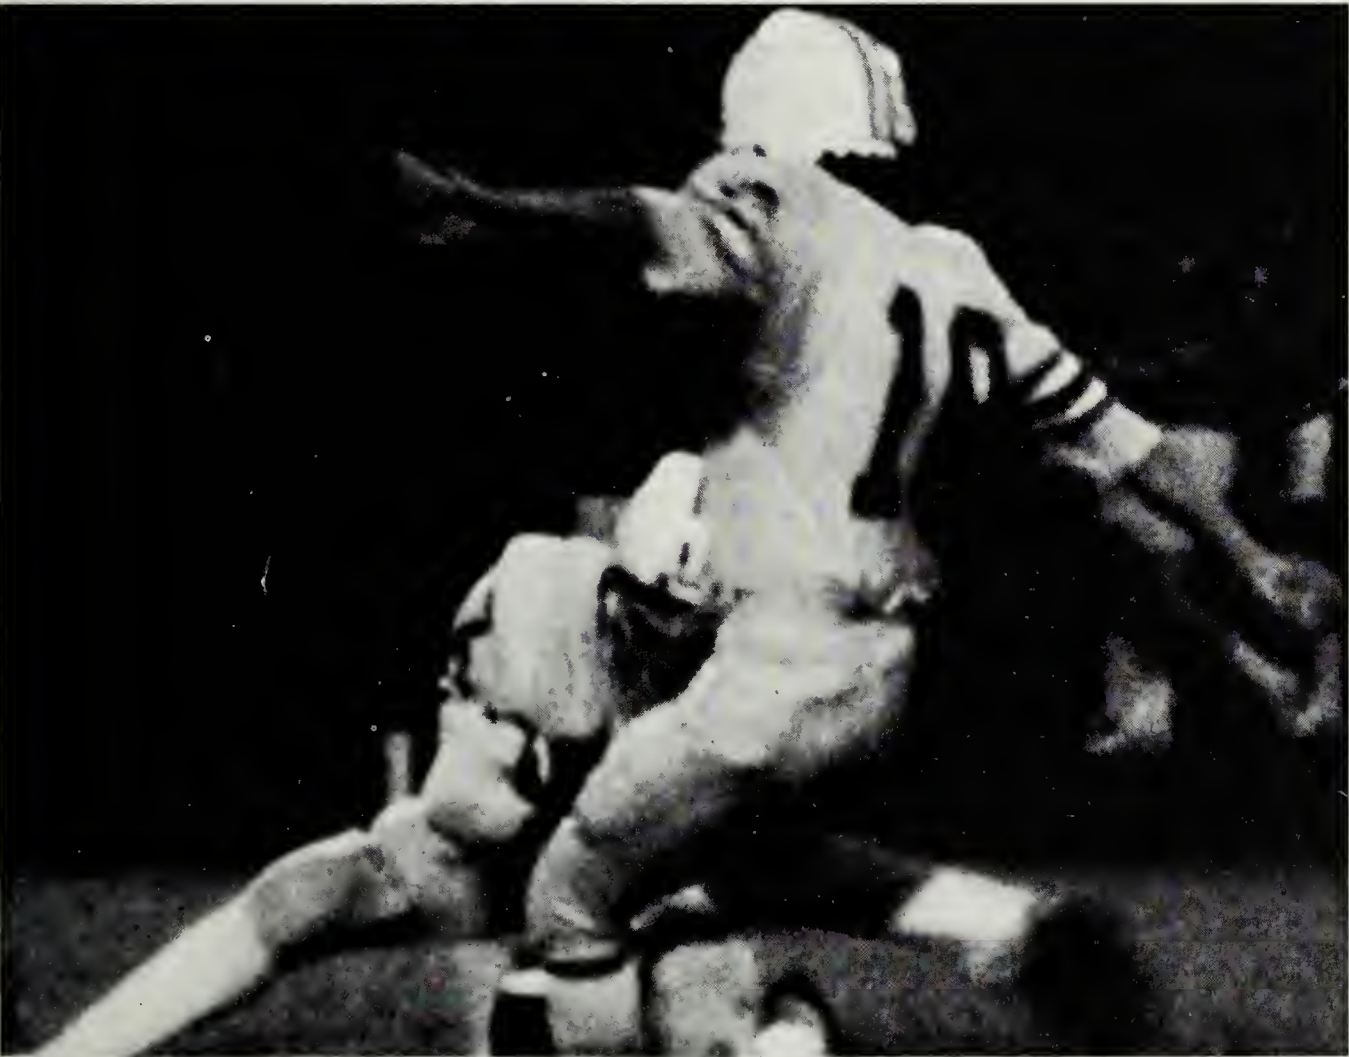

The defense was kept busy by Bethel. Early in the first quarter, Bethel got to the 2 yard line and scored on the next play. James Johnson (42), Lorenzo Dudley (67), Michael Roberson (65), Todd Lattimore (77), Kevin Bettis (79) and William Blair (32) anchor the line.

The next three games seemed to bring nothing but defeat for Phoebus as we were beaten by Bethel, Prince George, and Menchville. The team would not lose their hopes though and the next game proved this.

Our homecoming game proved to be the most exciting game of all. Phoebus stomped Warwick with a score of 27-0. This was a team first in the history of Phoebus and the team was elated.

The next two games closed out the season for the Phantoms with a loss to Ferguson by a score of 27-10 and a loss to Lafayette by a score of 14-7. Ruark Walker scored the touchdowns in both games.

Ruark Walker scampers past a Menchville defender en route to a touchdown. He received a 55 yard pass from quarterback Leron Gilchrist with 5:32 left in the third period to tie the score at 14.

James Savage scores on fifteen yard pass play from Paul Jackson to give the Phantoms a 7-0 lead. Phoebus prevailed over Denbigh 14-0 for their second win of the season.

Steve Johnson scampers for a 6 yard gain in the Ferguson game. He received the hand off from quarterback Paul Jackson.

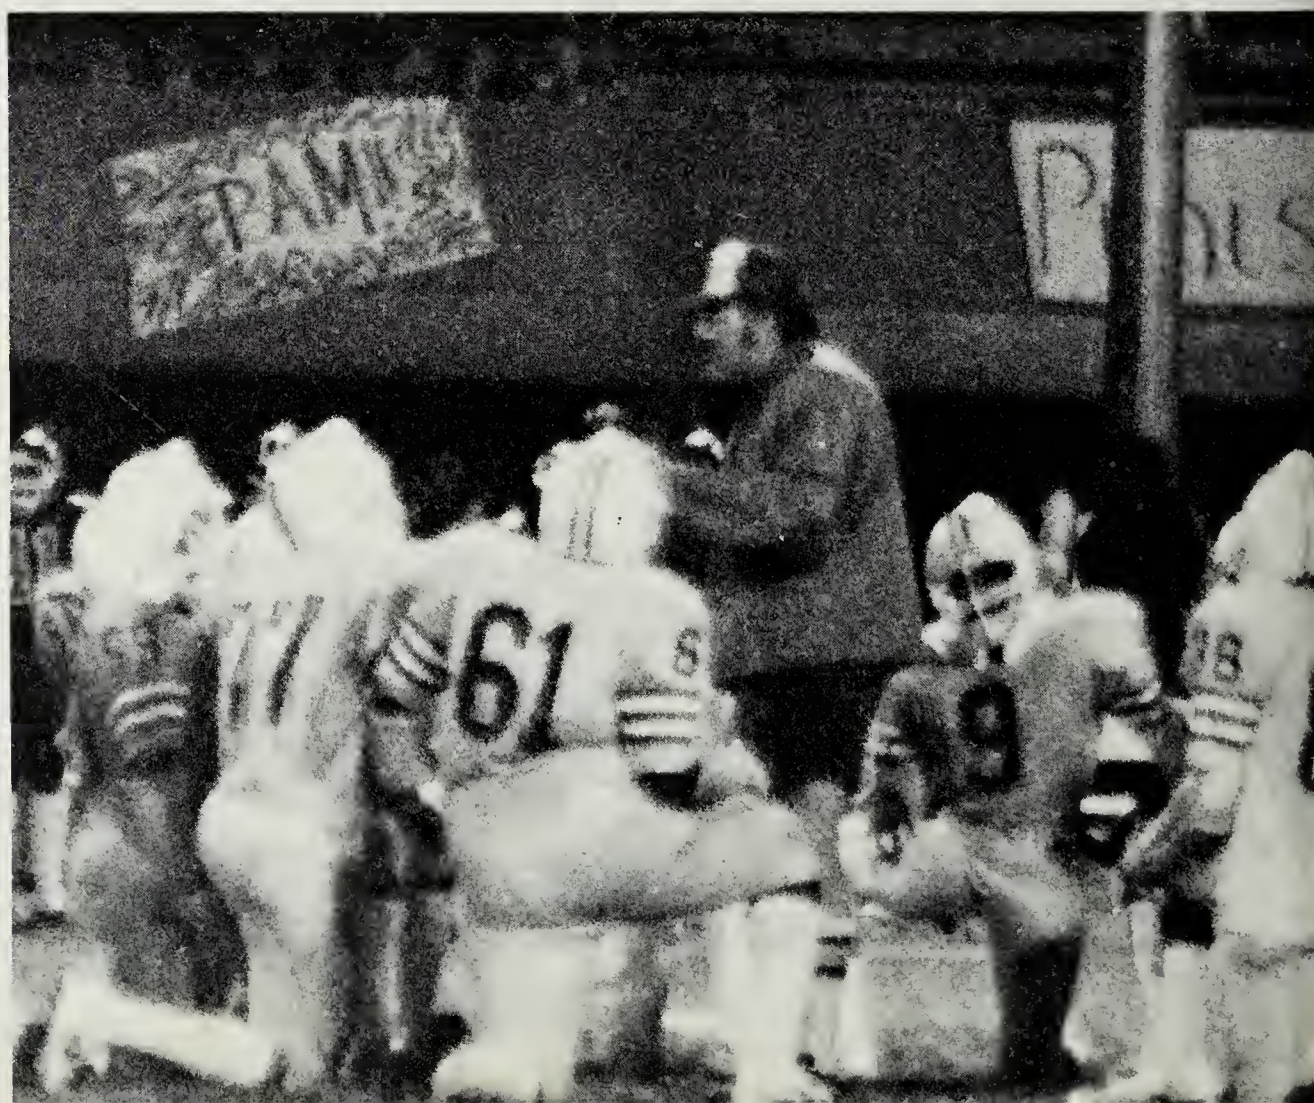

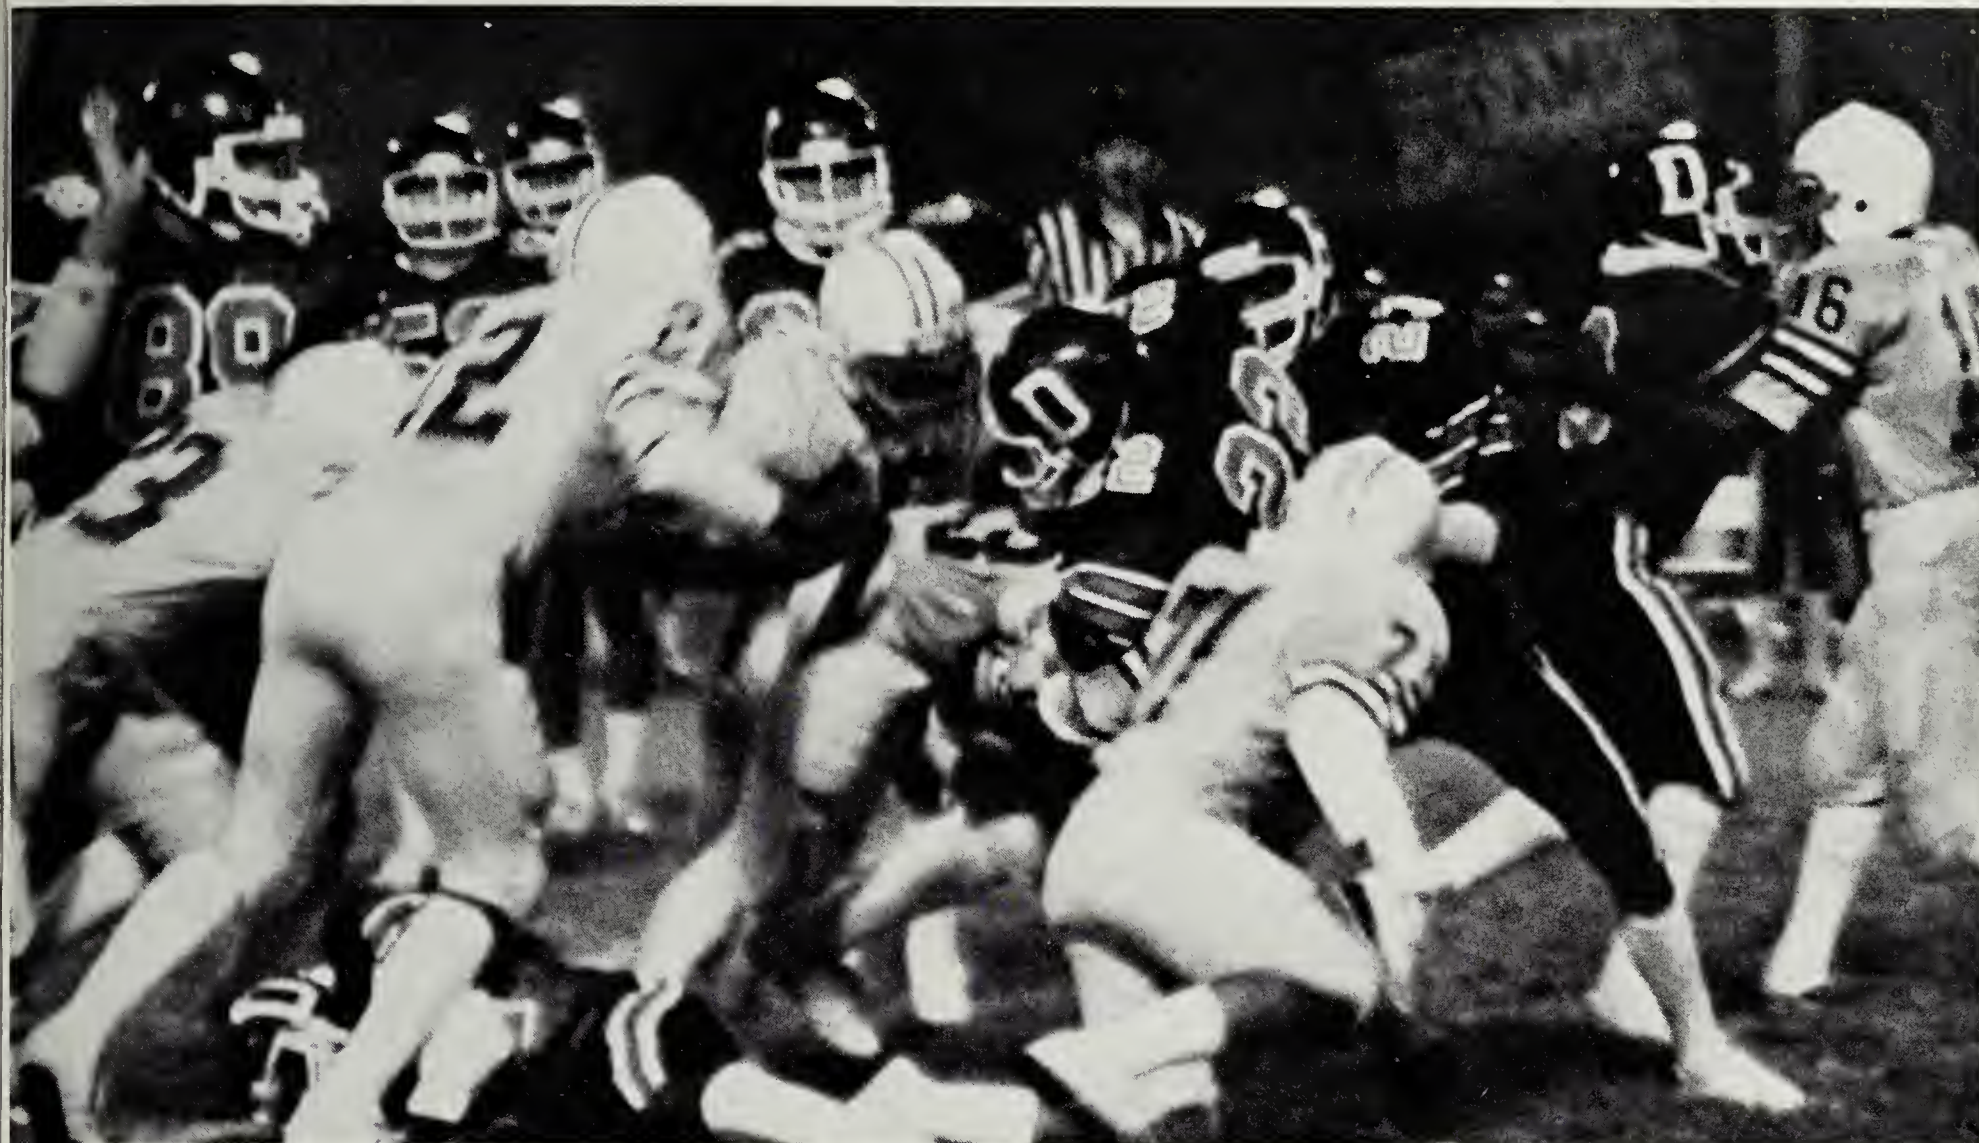

As all football players eventually find out, football is not all fun and games. Hot summer practices, bruises, pulled muscles and other injuries are just a few of the hard times and grueling work a guy may have to put up with in a football season.

Yet along with all the agonies that come with football, there also comes a fulfilling experience to know that when the season is over, you have met new friends and accomplished a great deal whether if you had a winning season or a losing. Remember it's not if you win or lose but how you play the game!

Coach Wade Traynham gives the defensive unit instructions in the Menchville game. This year was the first year that coaches were allowed to go on out on the playing field during time-outs.

Nate Allen runs for 6 yard gain and first down against Denbigh as Mike Roberson (59) and Norwood Evans (64) block. The drive was halted.

Lawrence Walker (23), Arnold Doswell (22), Philip Berkeley (85), Tony Ebron (33), Adrian Harrid (7) and Bobby Willis (16) converge on the Denbigh runner. Phoebus had just scored and this was the ensuing kick-off.

Ruark Walker gains 7 yards in the first quarter against Ferguson. He was Phoebus' leading ground gainer in the game.

Paul Jackson cuts back for 13 yards and a first down against Bethel. Bethel's defense held and the Phantoms were forced to punt.

Harriers Conquer Hills

It was the best of times it was the worst of times. These words almost describe the Cross-Country season. Paced by All-District, All Regional runners Michael Walker and Dale Williams, the Phantoms could only muster up a 2-6 record.

The season got off to an ominous start when Sophomore Cornelius Smith ran into a road sign coming to practice August 10 and required 6 stitches to close the wound. Despite a good turn-out, the squad had only Dale Williams returning from last year's team. The inexperience showed early in the season as opponents consistently placed 5-6 runners between Michael, Dale and the rest of the team.

"It wasn't until the third meet that our back runners realized that they could run with other people" said Coach Jim Sherrard. It was then that Lafayette fell. Michael and Dale finished 1-2, Cornelius 4th and Eric Lundgren 6th. These four runners gave the team a solid foundation, but the 5th runner continued to plague the team, for in Cross-Country it takes 5 runners to make a team, and the team points are determined by the runners place finish. The five runners' places are added together and the lower team score wins the meet.

A strong finishing performance against Kecoughtan gave the harriers hope for a high finish in the District Meet. Michael and Dale finished 3rd and 8th and the team 6th.

In the Regional Meet at Mt. Trashmore in Va. Beach, Michael and Dale earned a trip to the State Meet in Charlottesville by coming across the line 6th and 9th. The two ran the mountains in Charlottesville for an excellent 17th and 27th place finish, Michael running 17th and Dale 27th.

"For an inexperienced team we had a good season," said Coach Sherrard. "Michael was a pleasant surprise. For someone who had never ran Track or Cross-Country before, his performance was unbelievable. Dale, only a junior, ran well, as expected, and is looking forward to competing next year. "We should have a good team next year," replies Dale.

Tennis Is Their Racquet

by Sharon Goodwin

At the beginning of the 82-83 tennis season it looked as though Phoebus was not going to have a team. This was because a team must have six players in order to compete and Phoebus only had five. However, Coach Baldwin finally found a sixth player and the team was underway. "This Year there were only three returning players from the nine we had last year. Thus, we must consider that this was to be a building year," says Coach Baldwin. Her team agrees with her. "I think we had a good team considering half of the people on the team were conditioning (working up for the team next year)," says Vickie Lemonovich, who ranked third.

Above her were, Tracy Chappell, first and Cherie Furlow, second. Other players on the team were, Teresa Kinzie, fourth, Karen Shuler, fifth, Michelle Dixon, sixth and Kathleen Madigan, and Julie Bukovich, who played exhibition matches that did not count toward the final score.

The team practiced everyday after school until 6:00. Here they played challenge matches to try to move up the ladder. This way a person could move from number three to number two, in just one day.

District championships were the eighteenth through the twenty-second of October. The team went last year, but this year it was only Tracy and Cherie who went. They won their first match, but unfortunately they lost their second match. Coach Baldwin has already started preparing her girls for districts next year, but she has found it hard to find girls who know anything about tennis. Coach Baldwin added that, "Considering that this was a building year, we can only hope to learn and gain experience for next years' season."

Basketball – A Fine Effort

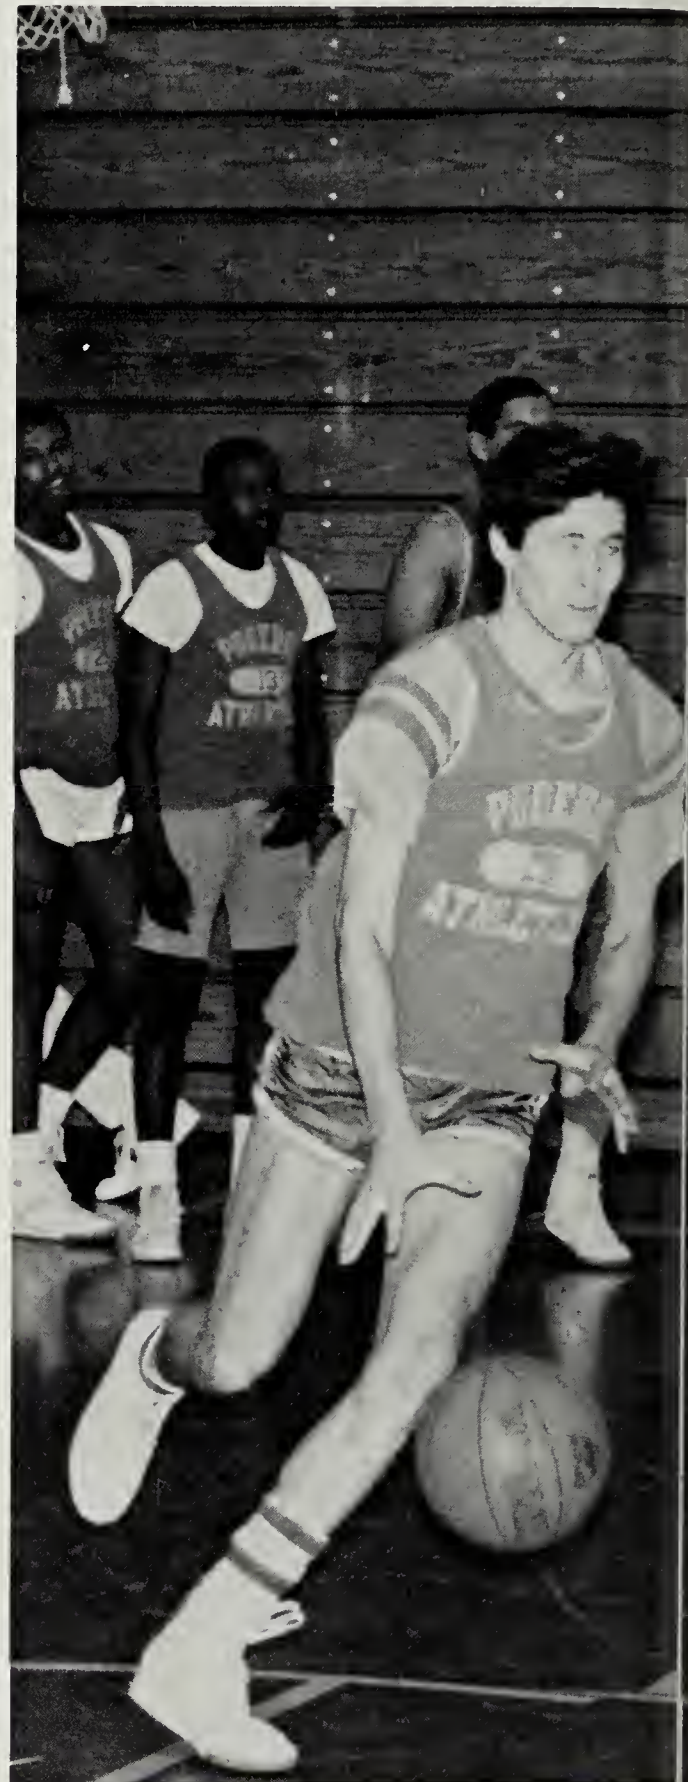

The PHS boys basketball team had a year of growth and rebuilding. The team was coached by Coach Killen, who coached the J.V. team last year. Though it was not a winning season, the team did have certain positive aspects. Michael Walker, a senior, was named to the All District team. There was also an experienced new comer, Shannon Hayes, who proved to be a fine asset to the team. Shannon, a senior, came to PHS from Peninsula Catholic. These two were just a part of the proud Phantom basketball team.

Practice for the season began November 1, and the aches and pains for many of the prospective players began. Muscles that had not been used in many months were again worked. Those who were not good enough were soon cut or moved down to the Junior Varsity and serious practice sessions of learning plays and drilling soon came about.

Evening practices and Saturday practices became commonplace as the team began rounding into form. There were scrimmages, the regular season, the Fort Eustis Christmas tournament, and the District tournament to look forward to. Picked to finish last in the tough Peninsula District, the Phantoms had much to prove to both themselves and the rest of the league.

A Long Hard Season

by Karen Moody

Phoebus Girls' Basketball team had a rough season this year due to the fact that most of last years starting players graduated. This left Coach Mike Tallon a relatively new group of girls to work with. Twenty girls went out for the team but some ended up quitting because they did not have the dedication and endurance that goes into having a successful team.

The girls played hard throughout the season and never threw in the towel. Their record at the end of the season was six wins and fifteen losses. Teresa Miles and Ronnell McRae were both outstanding rebounders, Sharon Freeman was the teams leading scorer.

Two girls on the team went on to receive honorable mention in All-District. They were Senior Pam Smith and Junior Sharon Freeman.

This is what the game looks like from the top of the bleachers. Bethel went on to win the game 39 to 34.

This year was a rebuilding year for the Lady Phantoms as last year's starting five graduated. Through hard work and conditioning, the team had a respectable season, although the string of six District titles was broken.

Coach Mike Tallon, assisted by Mrs. Linda White spent much of their time conditioning and teaching the girls the finer points of the game. An opening game victory over non-District opponent Bayside provided confidence and showed the girls that they could be competitive with all the teams in the area.

Team Does Well

This years gymnastics team, coached by Frances Gaines, did fairly well compared to last year. Though they fought hard they only placed fourth in the district by defeating Warwick.

Most of the competitors felt the team was better over all and will probably become better considering most players are only freshmen. A former member of the gymnastics team, Carolyn Bass, helped out with the team. She commended the girls for a job well done.

Elizabeth Walter is practicing her routine on the uneven bars. Elizabeth is a Senior here at Phoebus and a veteran of the Gymnastics team.

Grapplers Tie Up Opponents

by Eric Lundgren

With 7 of the 11 varsity wrestlers graduating in 1983, the 1984 wrestling team may find it hard to achieve the great heights of their predecessors. Returning next year will be Kenny Pierce, Roy Robbins, Brad Waters, Yong Sam Richardson, Carlo O'Keefe, Hans Crosby and co-captain William Stanley, who wrestled in this year's Regionals.

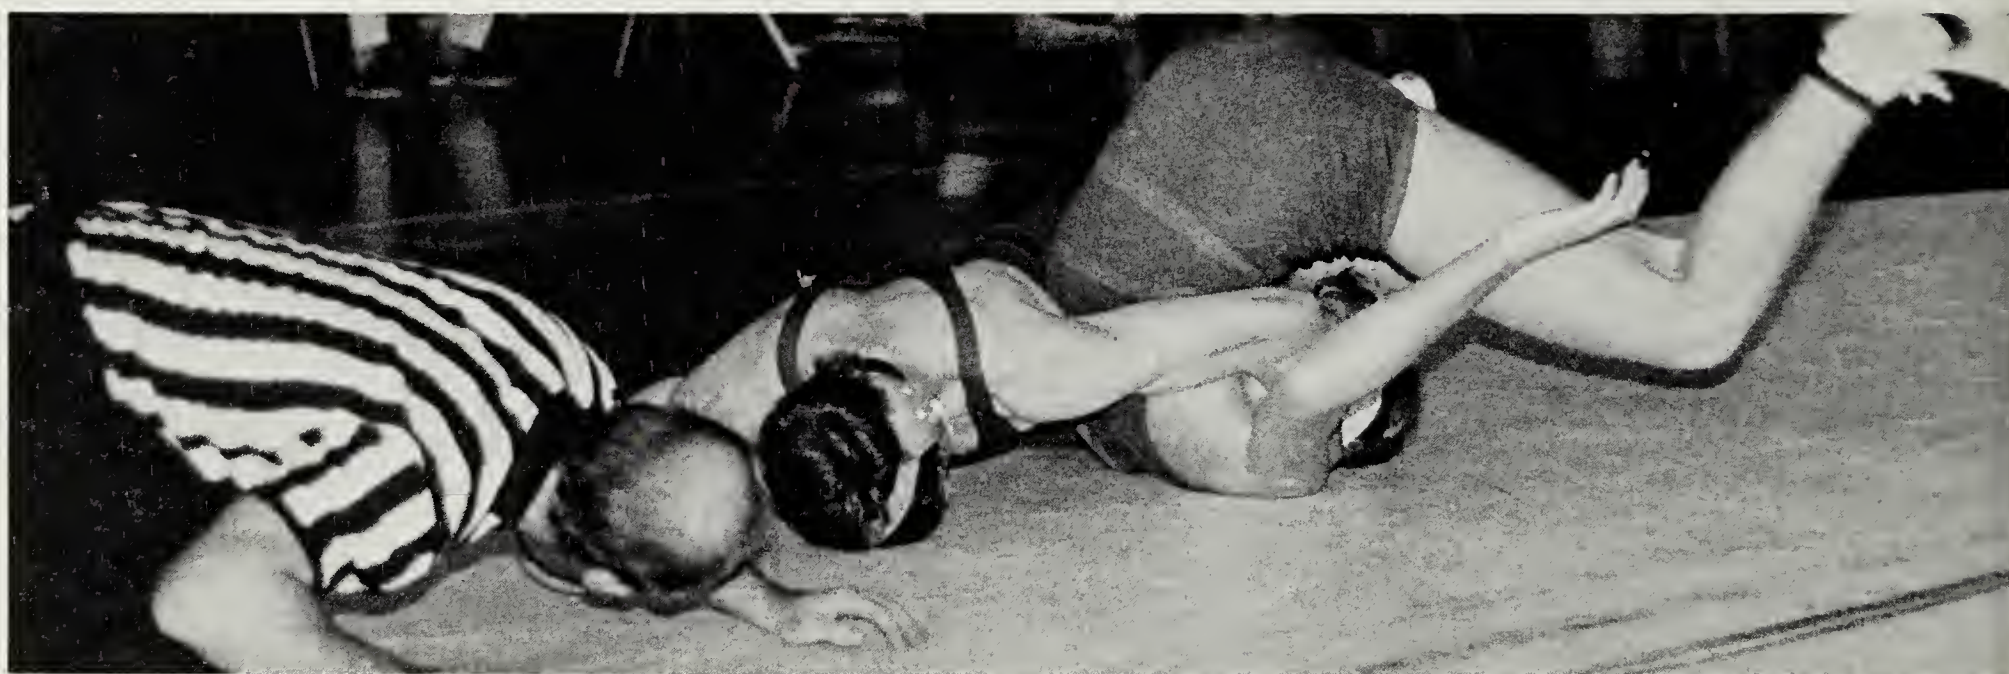

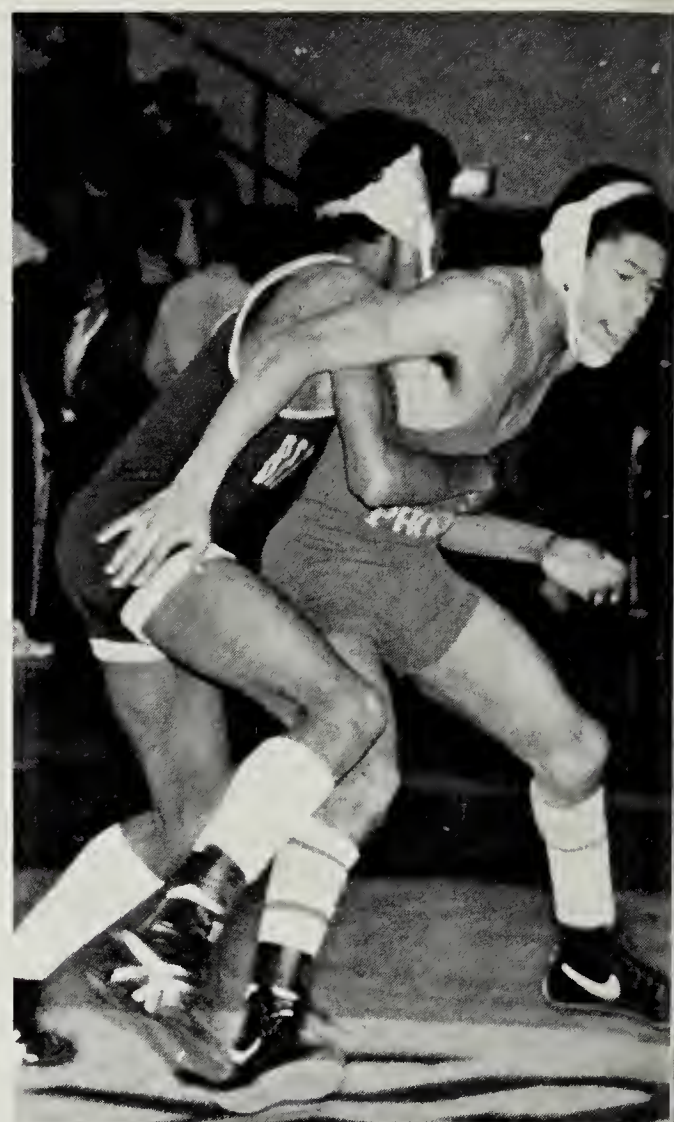

Besides winning a match, which the Phantoms did not do, finding a coach was the hardest thing for this year's wrestling team. Coach Sherrard, who took on the job of coach, was assisted by Tyrone Jones and Charles Febus. The team was rounded out by two very dedicated team managers, Vicky Lemonovich and Judy Wilson.

Three of the graduating seniors, Mark Dawkins, Mac Eagon, and Eric Karjala wrestled for the first time this year. Mac placed 6th in the Regionals and Eric finished the regular season on a high note pinning his opponent. Anthony Masoero, Mac Eason, William Stanley, and district winners Michael Roberson and Eric Lundgren carried the Phoebus blue and gold into the Regional matches in Virginia Beach. Phoebus finished nineteenth in the Regionals, defeating Bethel, Denbigh and Ke-coughtan, all of whom beat the Phantoms during the regular season.

While this year's team did not make it into the win column, Phoebus High School will be hard-pressed to find another bunch of guys and coaches who will put forth as much effort as this year's team.

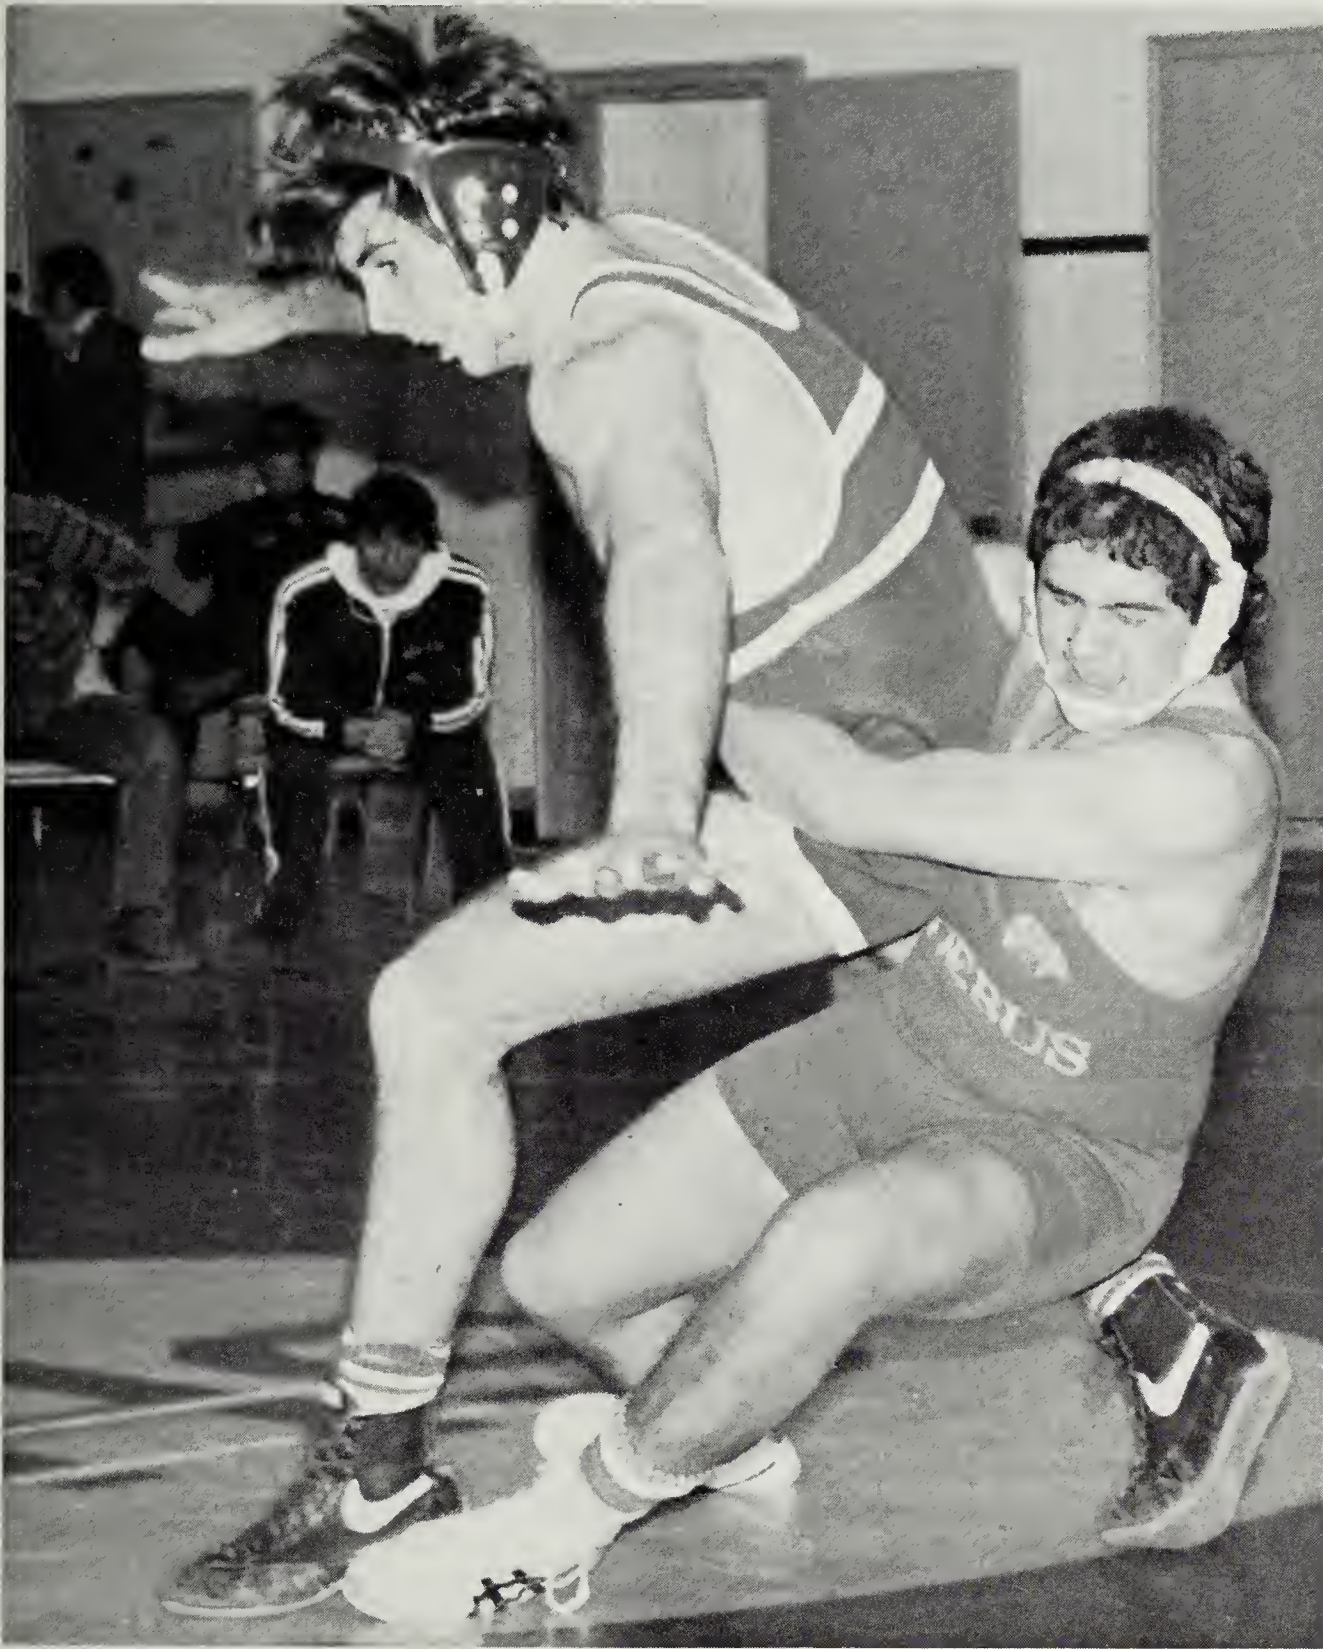

Eric Lundgren is shown pinning his Denbigh opponent Roy Gregg. The pin occurred at 58 seconds in the second period.

Hard Work Pays Off

Go weigh in — How much do you weigh now? This is just one of the problems facing wrestlers. Sweating to constantly lose weight and not being able to eat is one of the hardships of being a wrestler. Wrestling takes a dedicated person. Not many people can endure the maintaining of weight along with practices that are designed to get the entire body in tip top shape. Six minutes of wrestling may not sound like much, but the effort it takes requires that a person be able to use almost all his muscles along with not getting tired at the same time. Conditioning by running, exercising, wrestling and drilling of moves is just some of the effort that goes in to being a wrestler.

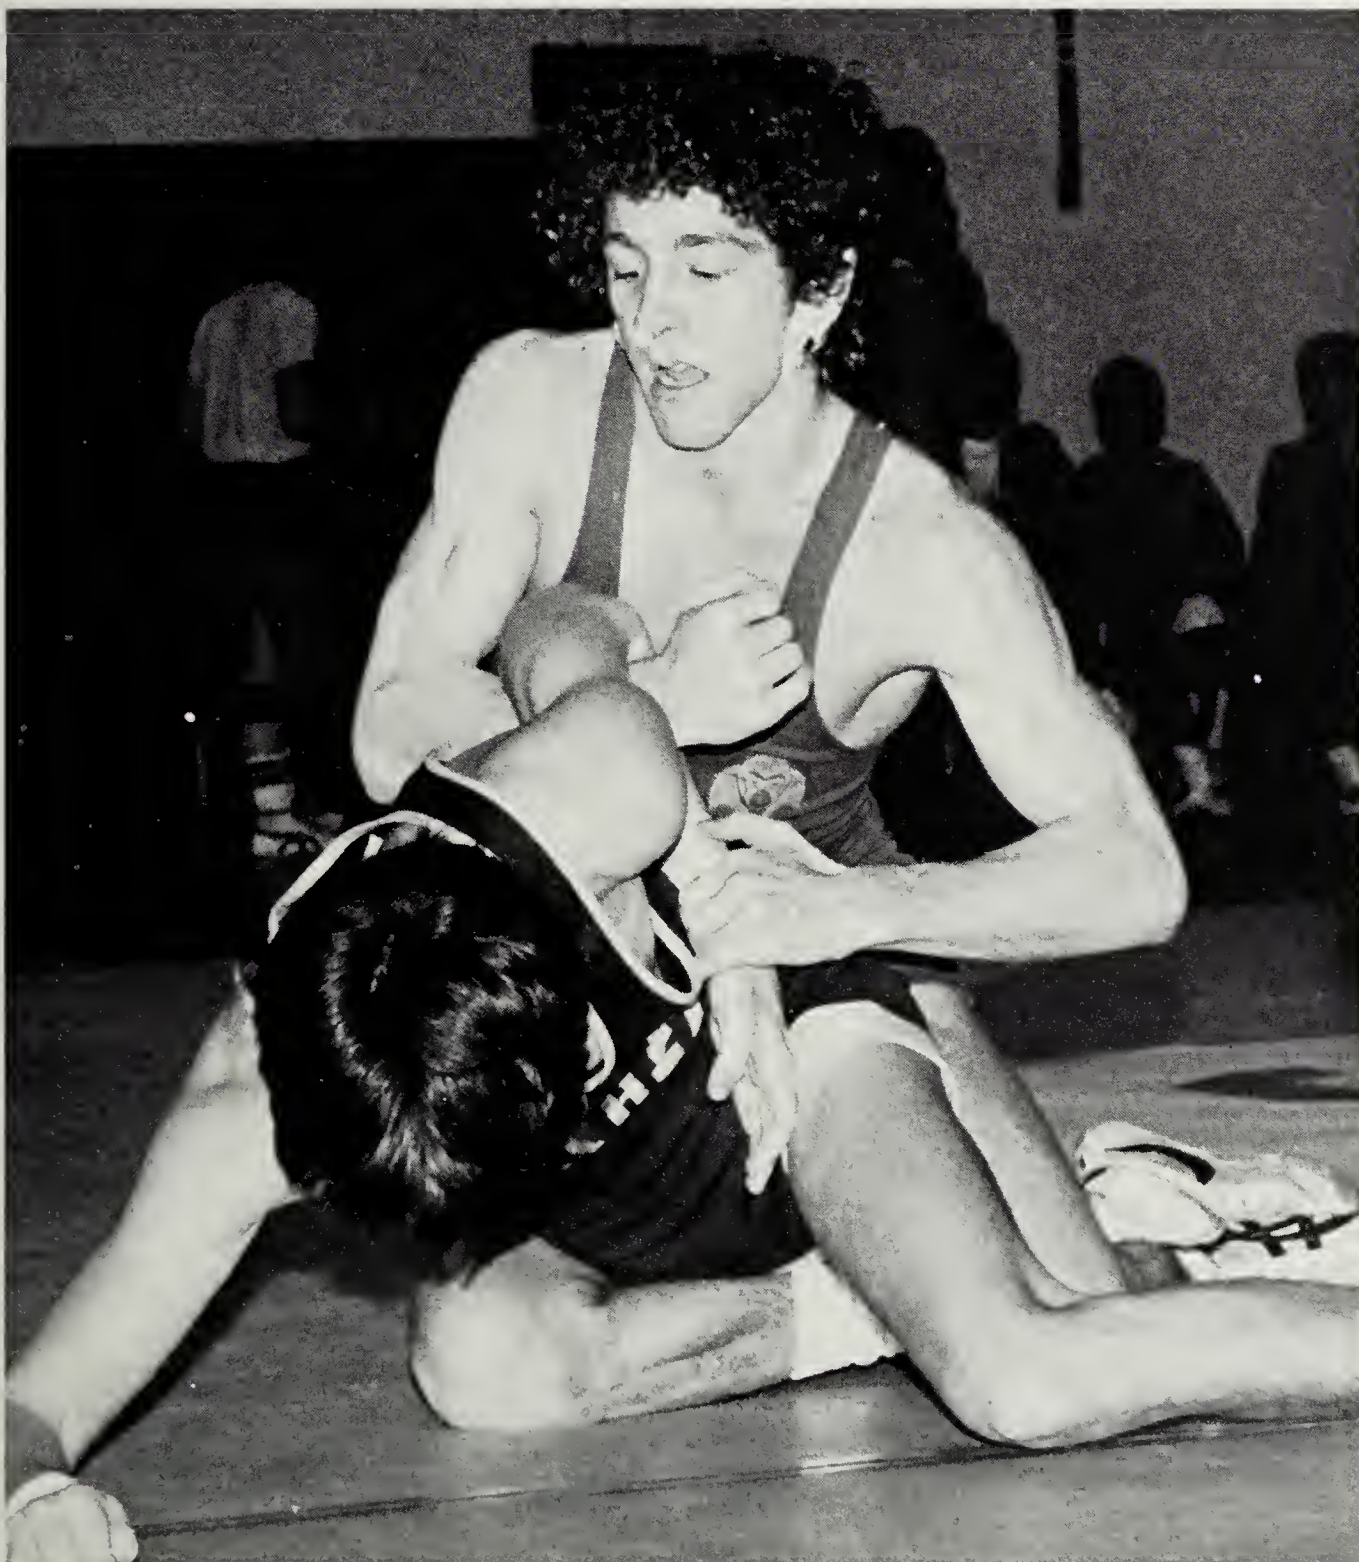

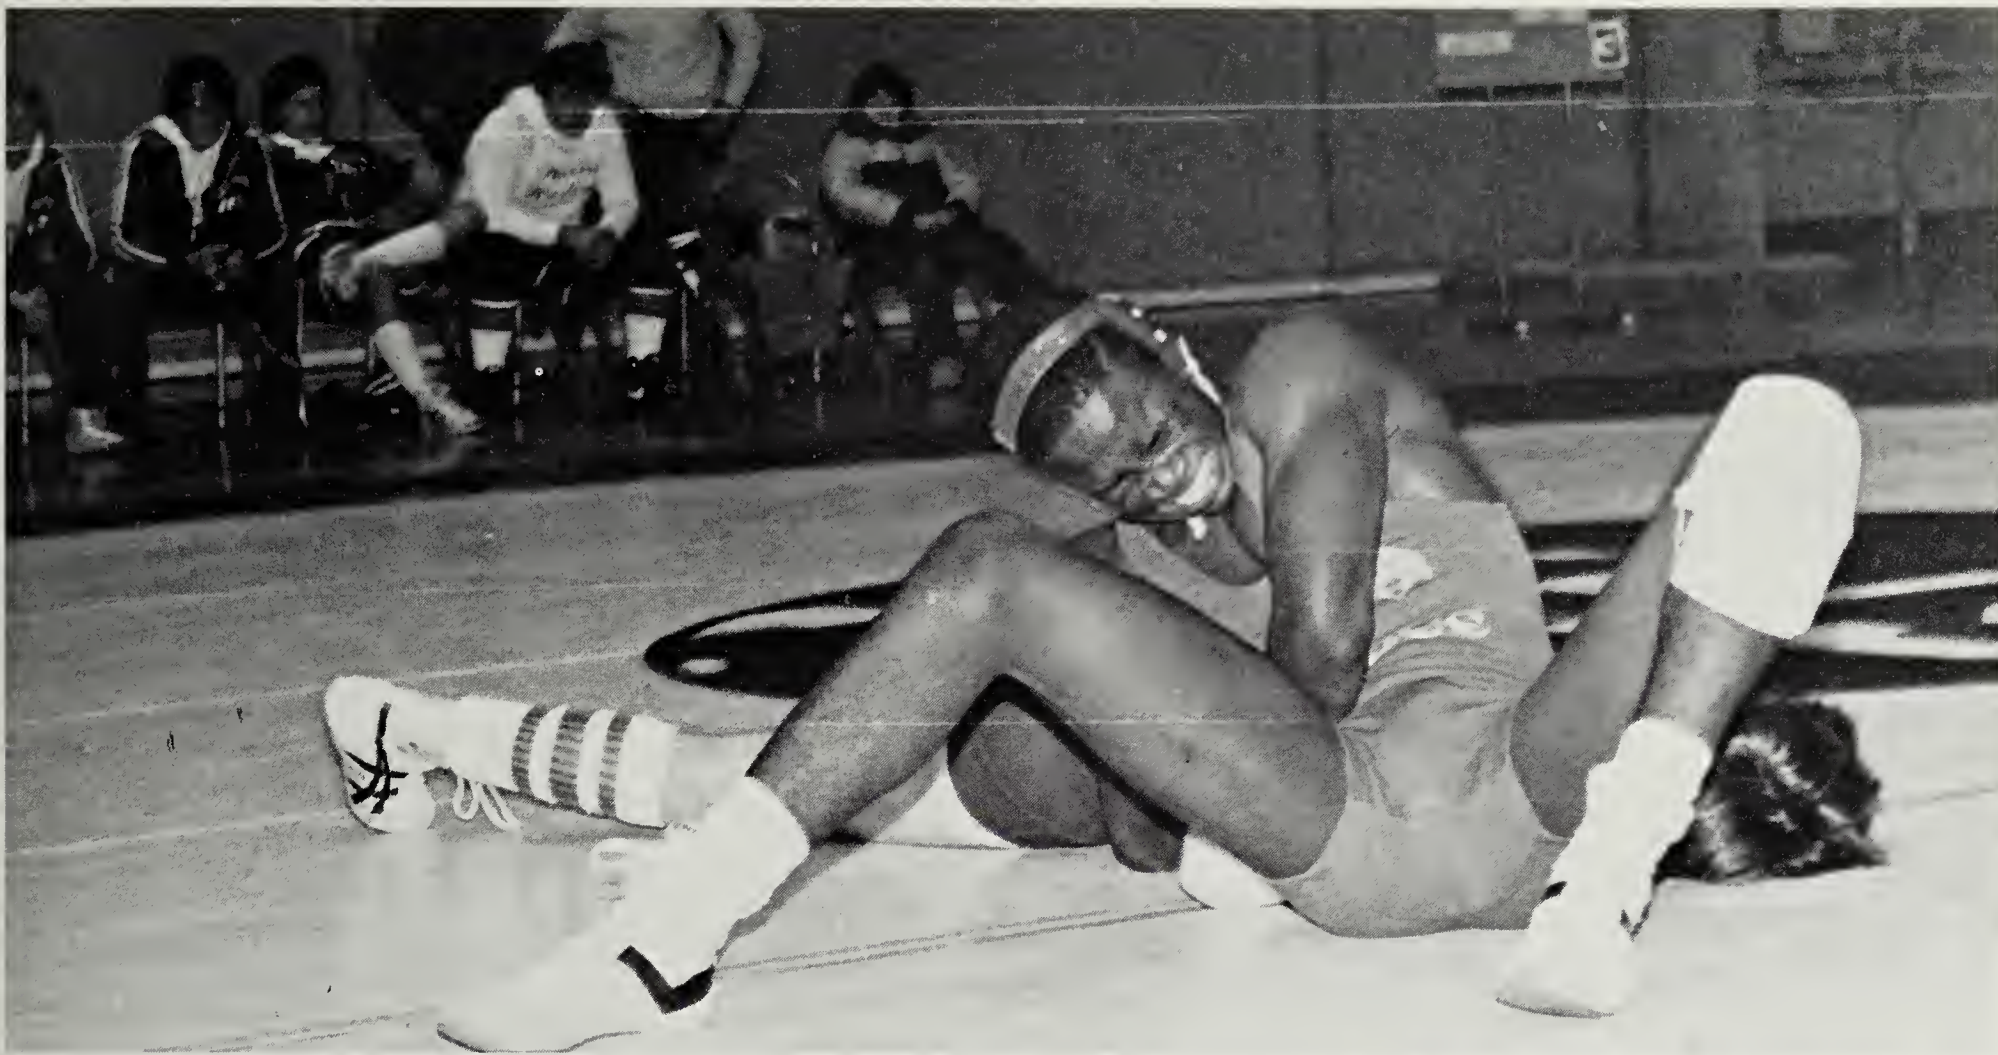

Hans Crosby, wrestling at 155 pounds attempts a take-down early in his match against the Maury wrestler. Hans was wrestling in the Green Run Christmas tournament.

William Stanley, at 126, aggressively tries for a pin against his Kecoughtan opponent. William later pinned him.

Mike Roberson turns Kecoughtan's heavyweight. Mike pinned him in the first period.

Eric Lundgren attempts to break down his Bethel opponent. Eric won 11-9.

Anthony Masoero, wrestling at 119, applies an arm bar to Bethels wrestler. Anthony won his match by a score of 8-2.

Swimmers Make Splash

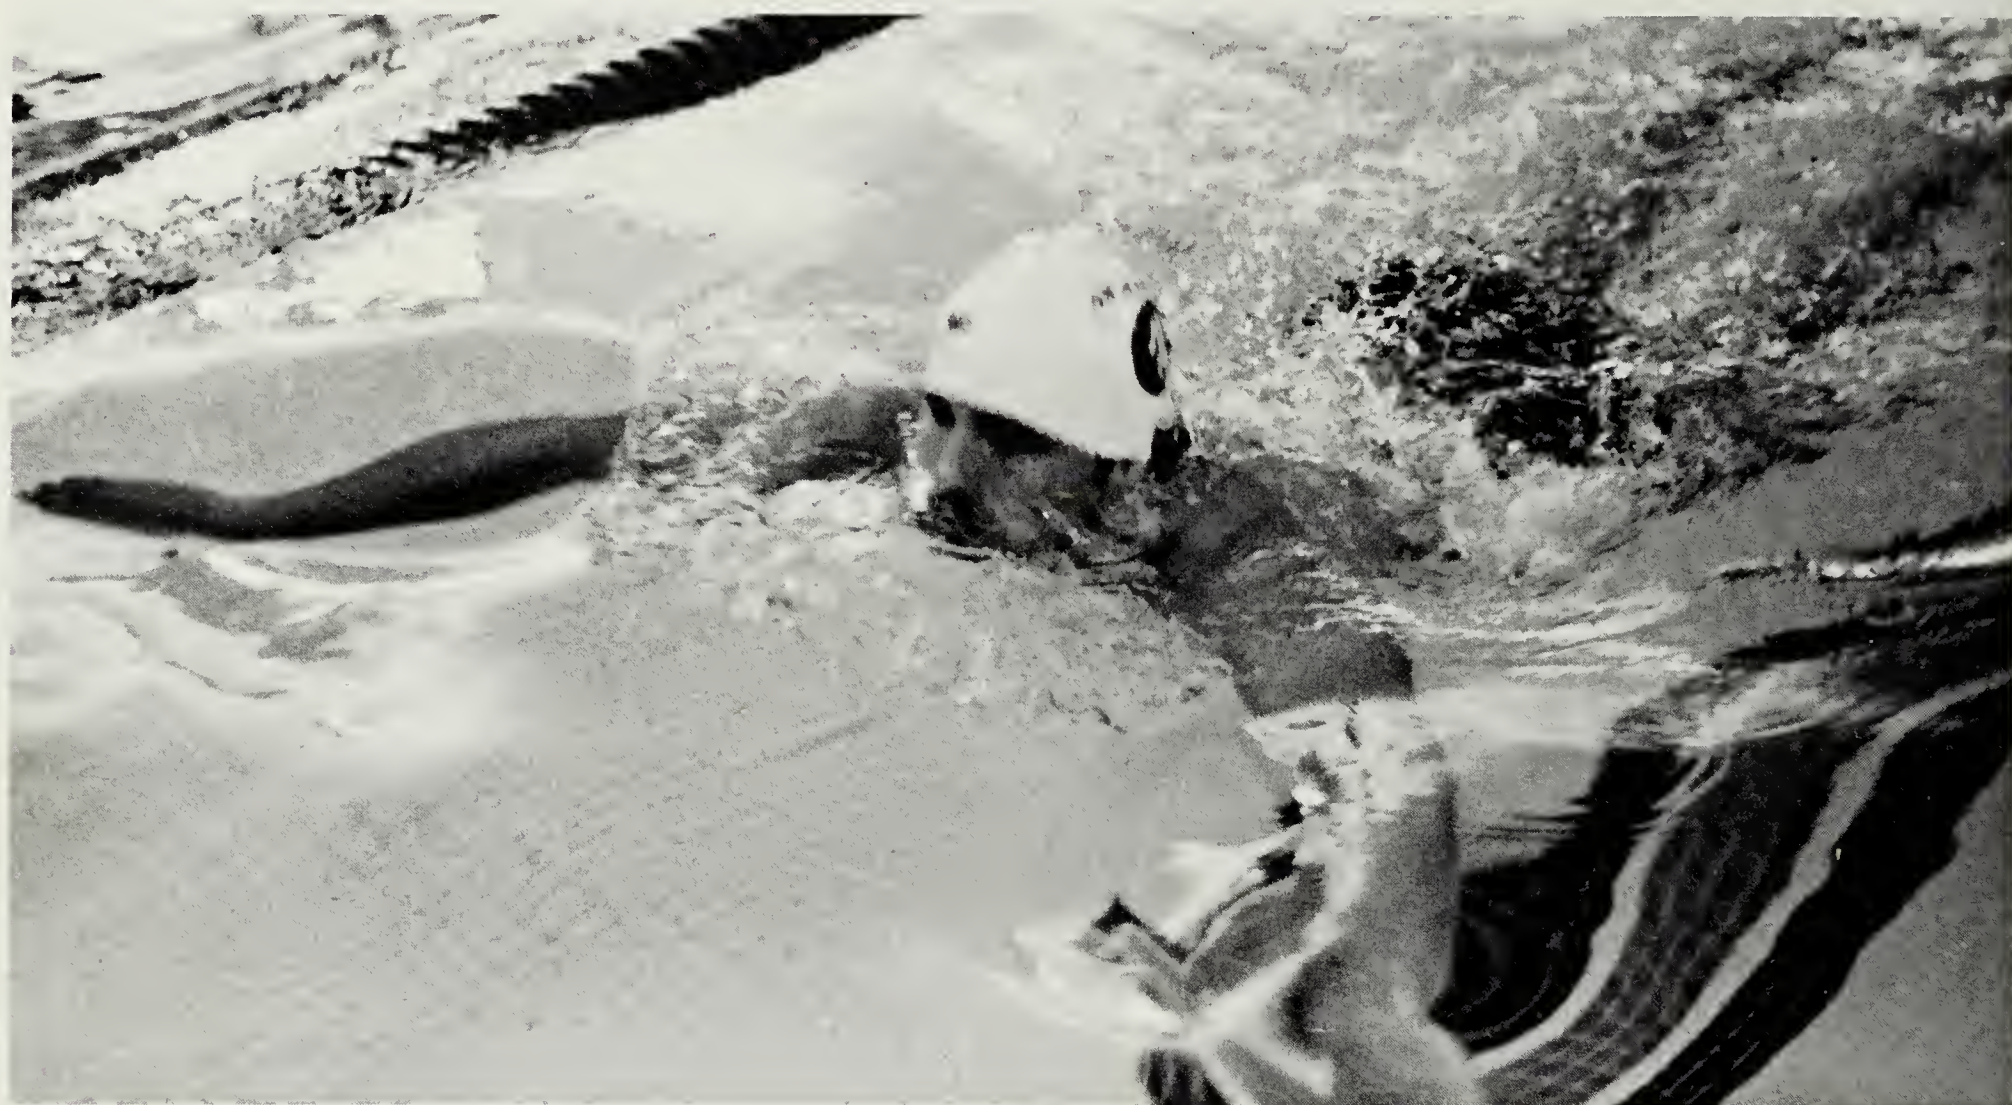

This year's swim team had some of the best swimmers in the District, however the team lacked the number of swimmers to compete with the teams that had a full complement of swimmers. "We had individual stars but we lacked depth to compete with the other teams. There were only about thirteen on the team and we needed about twenty-five to field a competitive team. We had to put people in events they were not strong in," replied

Coach Lonnie Servais.

Despite not winning a meet, Julie Glass, a ninth grader at Spratley, went undefeated for the season. She swam in the 50, 100 and 200m free, the 100m back stroke and the 200m individual medley.

Her brother, Eddie, went unbeaten in the 100m breast-stroke. Wesley Rice was also one of the stronger performers on the team.

Next year should be a better season for the team, and a larger turn-out is hoped for.

Eddie Glass heads for the finish line in the 100m breaststroke. Eddie, a senior, was undefeated in this event.

The 1982-83 Indoor Track season was a very eventful one. Under the supervision of Coaches Reatha Montgomery and Elton Morgan, the team worked diligently.

Members of the team practiced daily and participated in various events at the meets. Both the guys' and girls' teams had their outstanding members. Senior Tamico Eley captured a third in the State Meet in the 55m dash and fifth in the 300m run. The 800m relay team of Tamico, Kari Giles, Brenda Outlaw, and Sandra Jackson placed second and shot-putter Vicky Fields placed seventh. Steve Johnson led the boys' team and completed the season undefeated in District competition.

Both teams made the best of new and inexperienced team members. All were sincere in their effort to represent the Phantoms. Running events consisted of the dashes, distance events and both the 800 and 1600m relays.

Field events were also varied. Participants found themselves putting the shot along with the pole vault, high jump, and long and triple jumps.

Tamico Eley challenges Bethel's anchor leg in the 800m relay. Although it is indoor track, district meets are held outside on the tracks.

Kevin Bettis puts the shot in the meet with Bethel and Ferguson. Kevin recorded a distance of 42'8".

Steve Johnson is shown practicing in the Mall/Cafeteria at Phoebus. This area provides an excellent training area as it is close to a 200m oval track.

Dale Williams duals Ferguson's Darrin Whiteside in the mile. Dale was edged out for first at the finish line.

Sandra Jackson rounds the corner at Todd Stadium during the 800m relay. The team finished the season by placing second in State.

Team Has High Hopes

by Karen Moody

Coach Mike Tallon holds high hopes for this year's Phoebe baseball team. The team has many things going their way such as the best group of Sophomores ever, the best-looking infield and a team with intelligence and excellent enthusiasm.

The team consists of four Sophomores, six Juniors and four Seniors. The infield will place Jeff Worthington or Mike Roberson on first, Scott Freeman on second, Tim Casey on third and Jeff Beasley as short stop. There are five team members showing potential to be pitchers: Tim Baxter, Mark Dunford, Tony Russell, Doug Davis and Paul Begansky. Coach Tallon says the pitching is better overall but young and lacking depth. The remainder of the team will play the various positions of the outfield.

The team's first game is April 4 against Menchville. When asked about his prediction of how the team will perform, Coach Tallon replied, "depending on the pitching and defense, we should be very competitive—maybe for the first time in three years."

Doug Davis, a Junior, looks for the sign from the catcher as he warms up before practice. Doug is up from last year's JV team where he was unbeaten.

Daryl Giddings fields a grounder as part of infield practice. This is Daryl's first year out for the team.

Paul Begansky, Tom Casey and Tony Russell await their chance at pitching and fielding practice. The team had two months of practice before their first game.

Daryl Giddings, Tom Casey, Tony Russell, Jeff Worthington, Shawn DaCosta, and Tim Baxter prepare themselves for the coming season. Batting and fielding practice are a necessary part of conditioning to insure a good season.

Bryon Wampler dribbles the ball down field during an intra-squad scrimmage. Yong Sam Richardson waits behind him.

Paulette Parise sends a header in past goalie Paul O'Keefe during practice. Hiroshi Bizyak, Coach Sam Heatwole and Chris Malloy look on.

Hyon Smith races past Bryon Wampler as Nick Gordon looks on. Hyon was an All-District performer last year.

Carlo O'Keefe sends a header out of danger of the goal during a practice session.

Mary Jo Dorsey, one of the team's managers collects all the soccer balls for the team. Managers provide support for the team as well as helping out the coaches.

Looking for a Kick?

by Lisa Weihl and Sharon Goodwin

This year there were 20 dedicated P.H.S. students on the soccer team. The team practiced everyday from 3:00-5:15 under the direction of coaches Sam Heatwole and Richard McDonald. At practice, the team members loosen up, run 1 mile, practice their skills, (shooting, dribbling, and passing) and then they scrimmage for the last half hour.

This year, the games were held at Darling Stadium at 4:30 and 6:30. Special players on the team were Hyon Chun Smith, Bryon Wompler, Carlo O'Keefe and Paulette Parise. The team hopes to do well and would like to win at least half of their games.

Mitch Wright attacks the ball as Dean Rust sends a header past him. Practice affords the team members a chance to sharpen their skills.

and played games with other high schools without official recognition. After years of debate the District has finally allowed girls softball to become an official high school sport. To the exuberant softball players of Phoebus this decision just means a bigger challenge and reason to work harder.

The majority of this year's team members have played on other softball teams in the past or have been playing the game several years. Under Coach Harold Hinebaugh the girls practice diligently hoping to reach the Regionals and possibly the State.

Terri Monk gets set at first base during early season practice. This is the first season softball has been sanctioned by the Peninsula District.

Teresa Kinzie squares around to bunt during early season practice. Teresa is an accomplished player.

Terri Dysich fields a grounder during practice in the gym. Wet weather forced the team inside during much of the Spring.

Teresa Kinzie fires the ball to first. Teresa, playing shortstop, should be a great asset to the team.

Run to Win

by Jenn Dougherty

The outdoor track teams did considerably well in competition during the 1983 season. They can attribute this to the time well spent practicing every afternoon after school.

The male team was supervised by coach Anthony Woods and assistant coach Elton Morgan. Steve Johnson and Dale Williams are two of the leading male runners. The team members participated in running events ranging from relays to mile runs. Field events included the shot-put, discus, high jump, pole vault, long and triple jumps.

Coach Reatha Montgomery and assistant coach Linda White supervised the female team.

Tamico Eley, who also participated in indoor track and was All-American track member in 1982 contributed a great deal of leadership to the team. The same can be said of Vicky Fields.

Larry Jenkins and Harry Price take off running 220's and 330's during a workout. The season offered runners a chance to compete in many Invitational Meets as well as dual meets.

Tamico Eley, Brenda Outlaw and Kari Giles stride out during practice. They composed three-fourths of the 800m relay team that finished second in the State during the indoor season.

Tamico Eley earned recognition as an All-American performer last season as she was part of one of the best 400m relay teams in the U.S. She also placed third in the 55m dash during the Indoor State Meet.

Dale Williams and Curtis Wampler set off to run five miles. Both are aspiring to be distance runners.

Brenda Outlaw catches her breath after finishing her workout. Lots of interval running strengthens the endurance of the runners.

Kristy Sherman hopes to be a distance runner for the girl's team. Kristy is a ninth grader at Spratley Junior High School.

Coach Reatha Montgomery gets ready to send Cassandra Tynes, Michelle Dickens and Sandra Jackson on their way. Michelle is an outstanding high jumper.

Steve Johnson finishes his 220 with Steve Russell close behind. Steve is one of the better sprinters in the State.

Senior Vicky Fields practices her discus form. Vicky is an outstanding shot and discus thrower.

Birdie or Eagle?

Junior Scott Lee should lead the golf team to another high finish in District competition. Scott, one of the better golfers on last year's team, could put the Phantoms in a strong position to be a factor in the District Tournament.

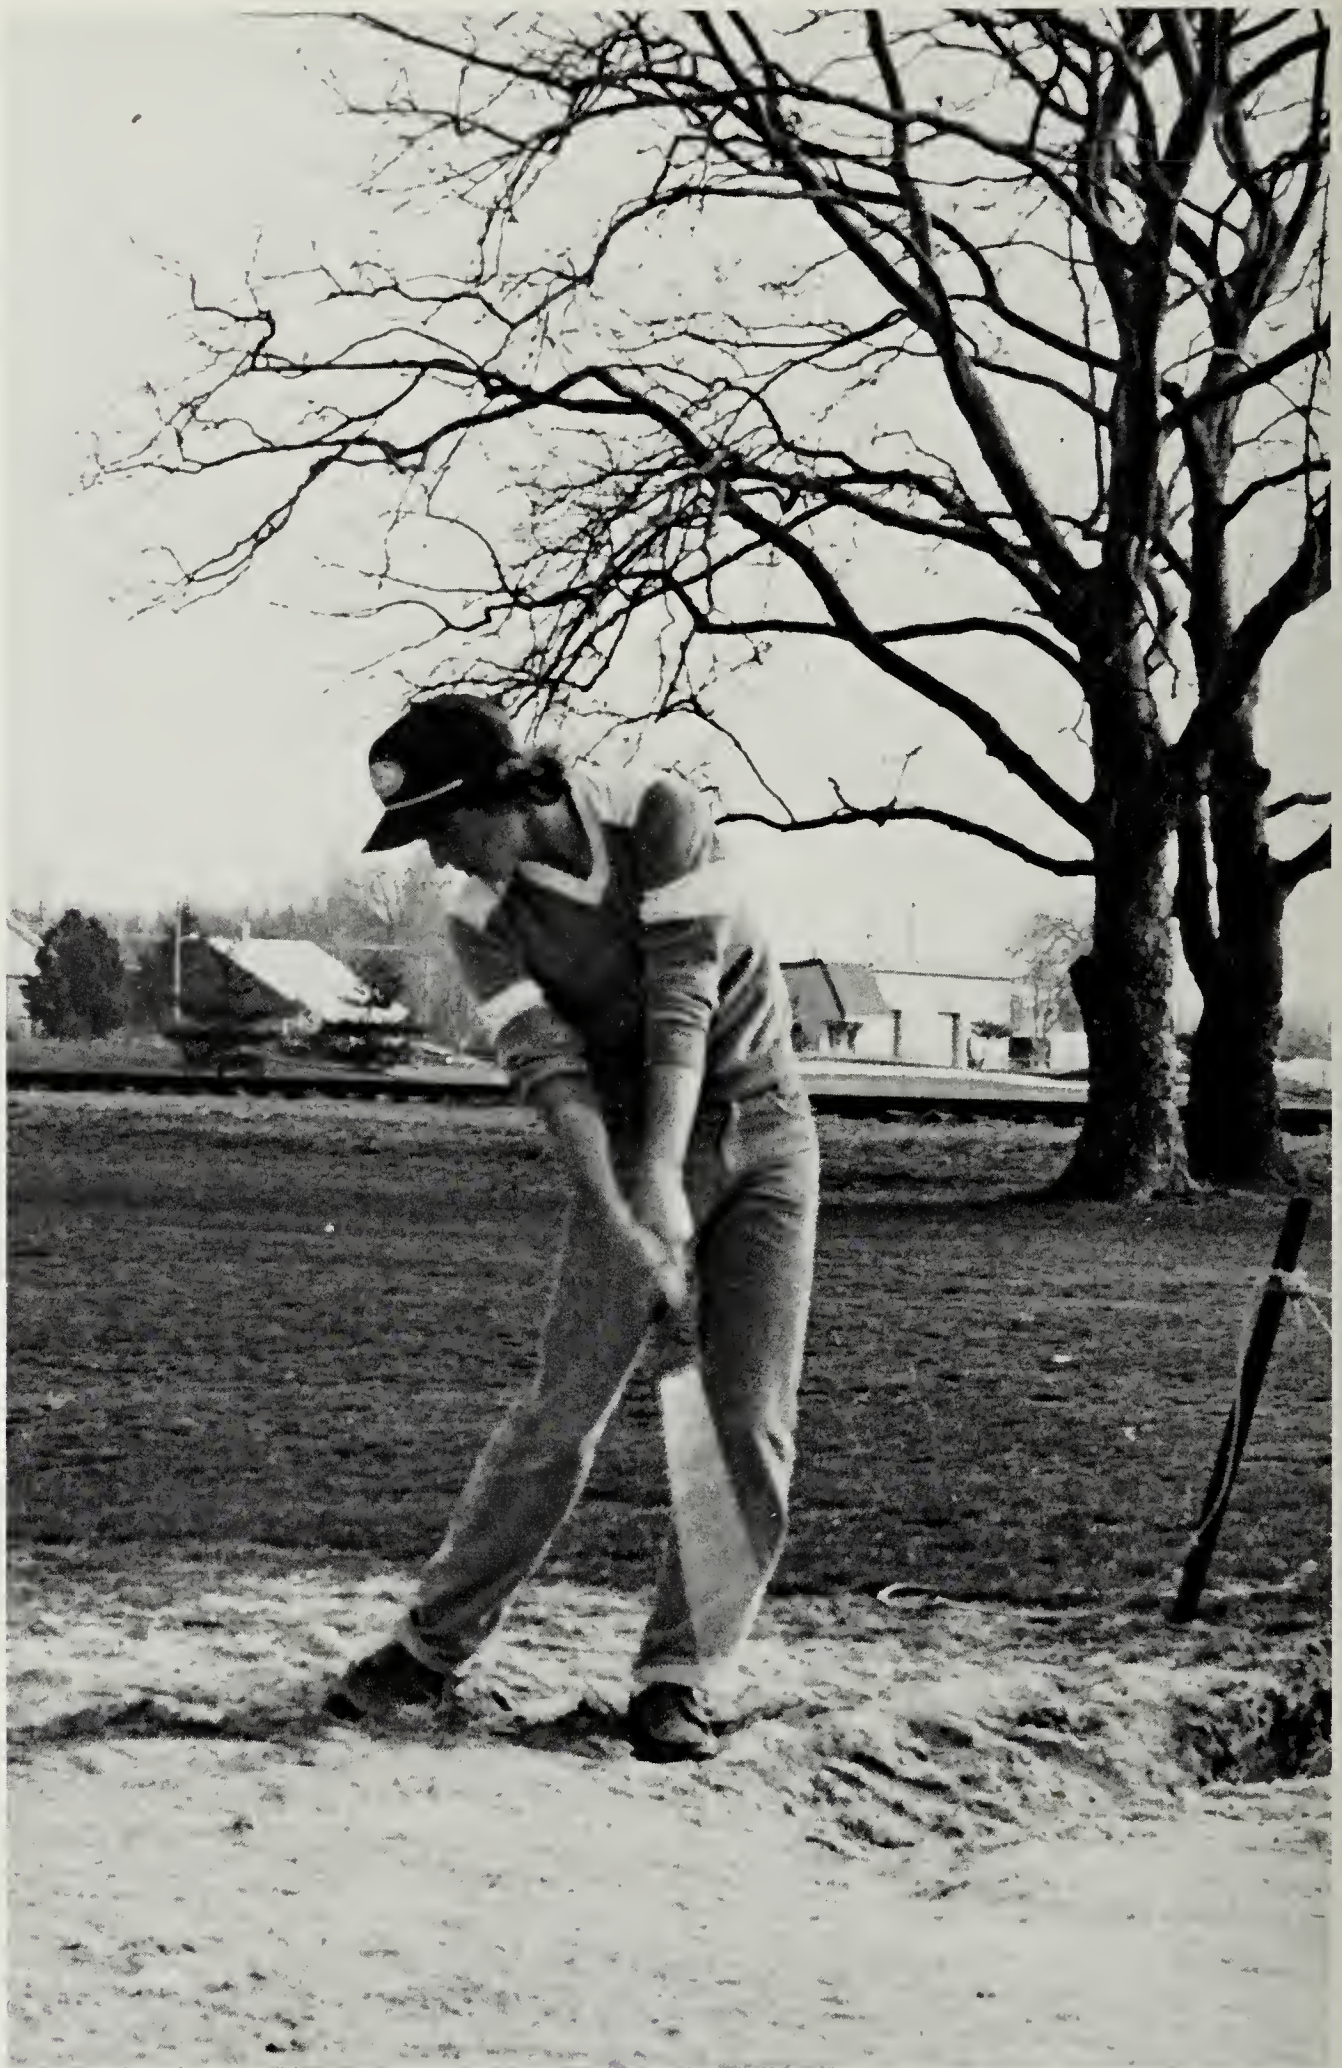

Phoebus plays its home matches on the Hampton Country Club course. It also plays away matches at Langley and Deer Run in Newport News.

A high finish in the post-season tournament enables players and/or teams to advance to Regional and State competitions. This year's team, coached by Wade Traynham, has the potential to realize these goals.

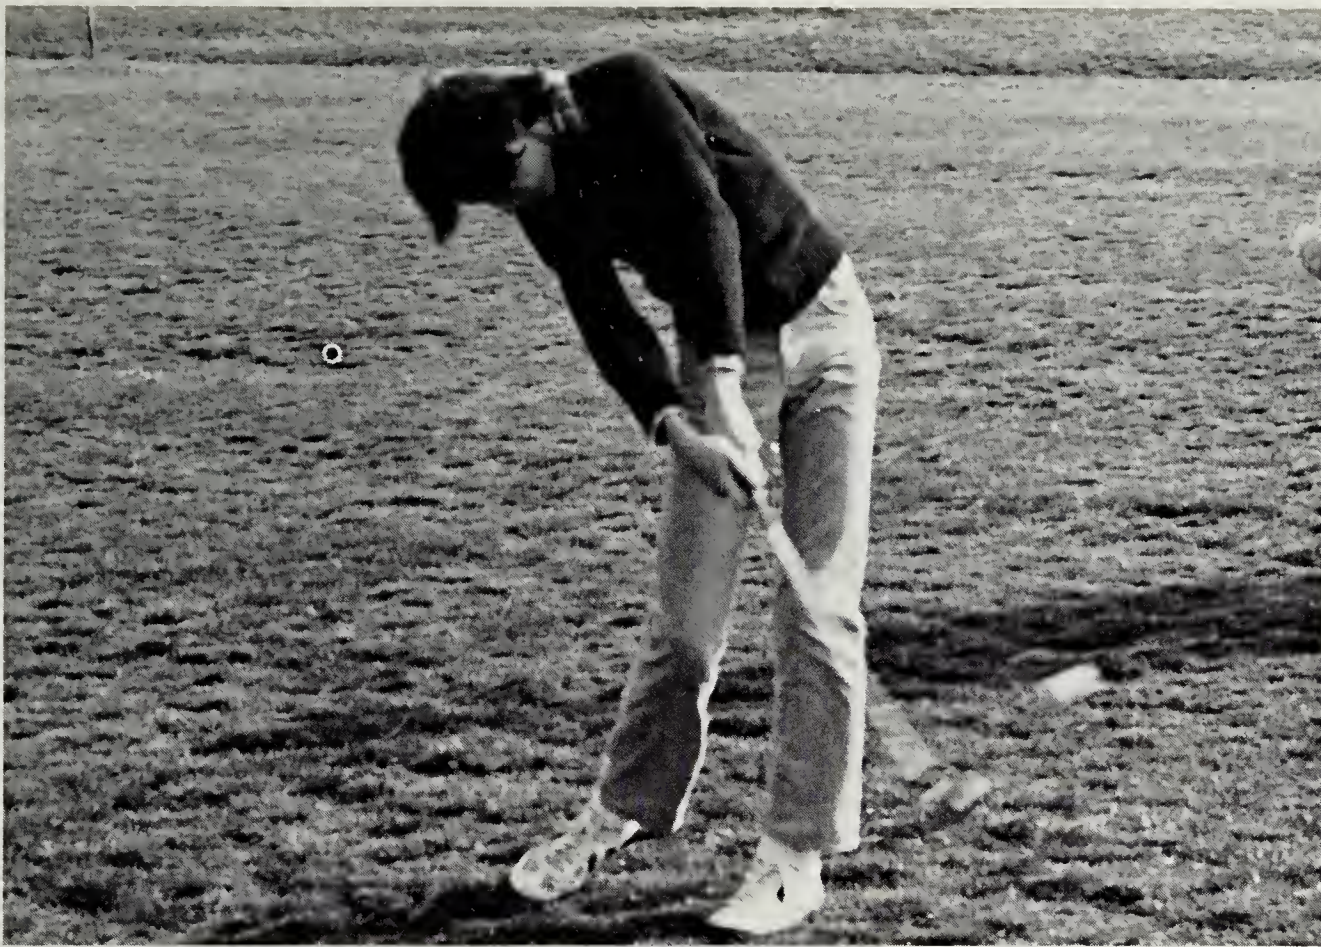

Brian Staton drives from the first tee at the Hampton Golf Course. The Hampton course is Phoebus' home course.

Junior Scott Lee should take over as the number one player on the team. Scott has been playing for five years. This bunker shot is on the first hole at the Hampton Course.

GOLF TEAM: Scott Lee, Steve Whitehead, Joe Rowe, James Lee.

James Lee keeps his head down on this short fairway shot. Daily practice helps sharpen the skills required to play a good game of golf.

Steve Whitehead prepares to putt from the fringe of the green. The team hopes for a good season this Spring.

Joe Rowe prepares to putt the first green at the Hampton City Course. Joe is also a member of the tennis team.

Tennis Team Serves Ace

by Amy King

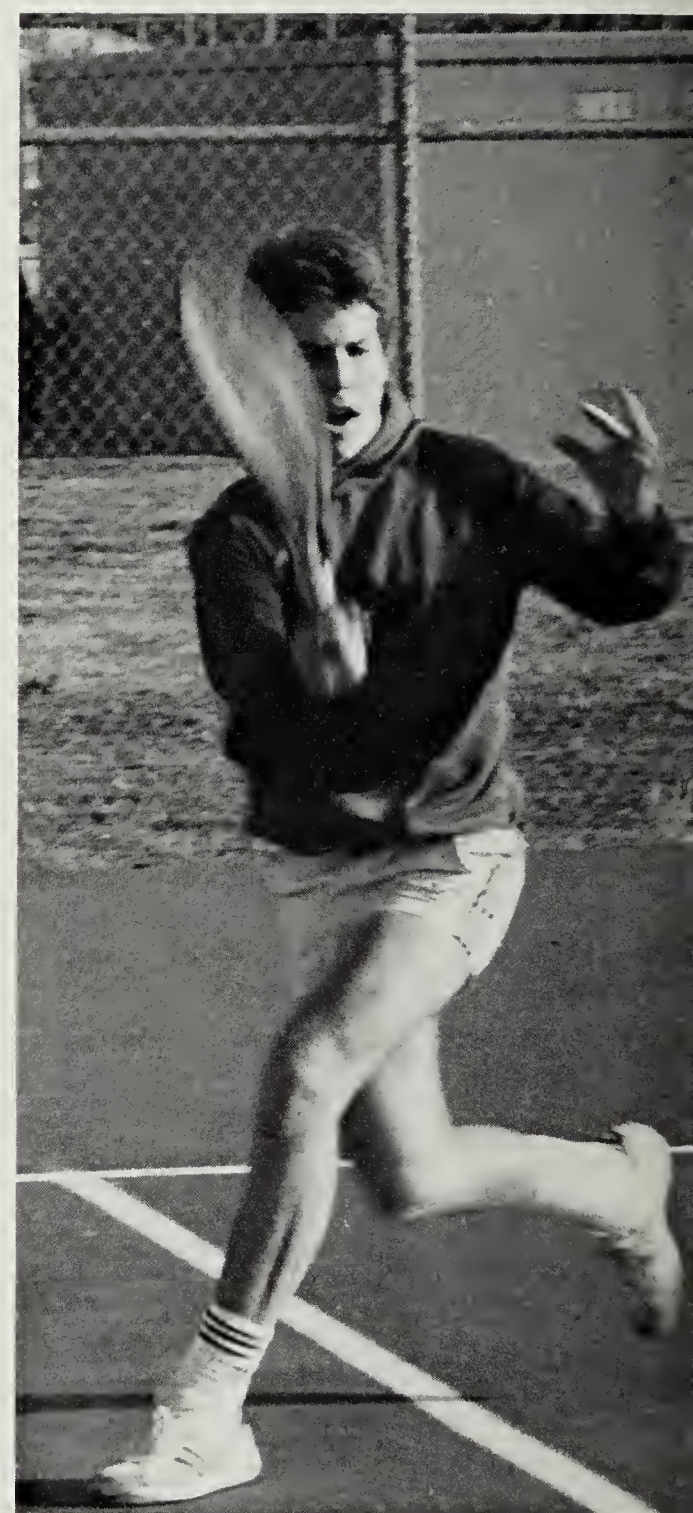

We have the potential to go all the way" stated Mr. Richard Navikas, coach of the Phoebus High School tennis team. This year, there is an overwhelming enthusiasm and plenty of competition. Junior, Shannon Sealey, our first player who was also fourth in the State last year will be working toward another excellent season. In competition for second is Junior Jim Glass, Seniors T.C. Kaiser, Tommy Bunting and Junior Bennie Ingram. The results of this competition will also resolve who will be third, fourth, and fifth players. John Hurlock, who was supposed to be the sixth player will be out for most of the season due to a leg injury. There will also be a play off for sixth among sophomores Rush Cole, Matt Taylor, Joe Rowe, Junior Scott Robert and Senior Peter Waldeck. Other members of the team who could challenge the sixth player at any time are Juniors Jay Lundgren, Kenny Snyder and Floyd Showalter. The managers of this years tennis team are Hannibal Howell, and Perry Davis.

Shannon Sealey practices shots from the base line. Shannon placed fourth in the State last year as a Sophomore.

Tommie Bunting and Tom Kaiser practice volleying shots in the gym. In inclement weather the team set up nets inside and got in a good workout.

Jim Glass returns the ball with a forehand smash. Jim, a Junior, is hoping to be the number two player on the team this season.

Bennie Ingram is in competition to be the second seeded player on the team. Bennie, a Junior, was on the team last year.

Peter Waldeck is trying out for the team for the first time this year. Last year he was a hurdler on the track team.

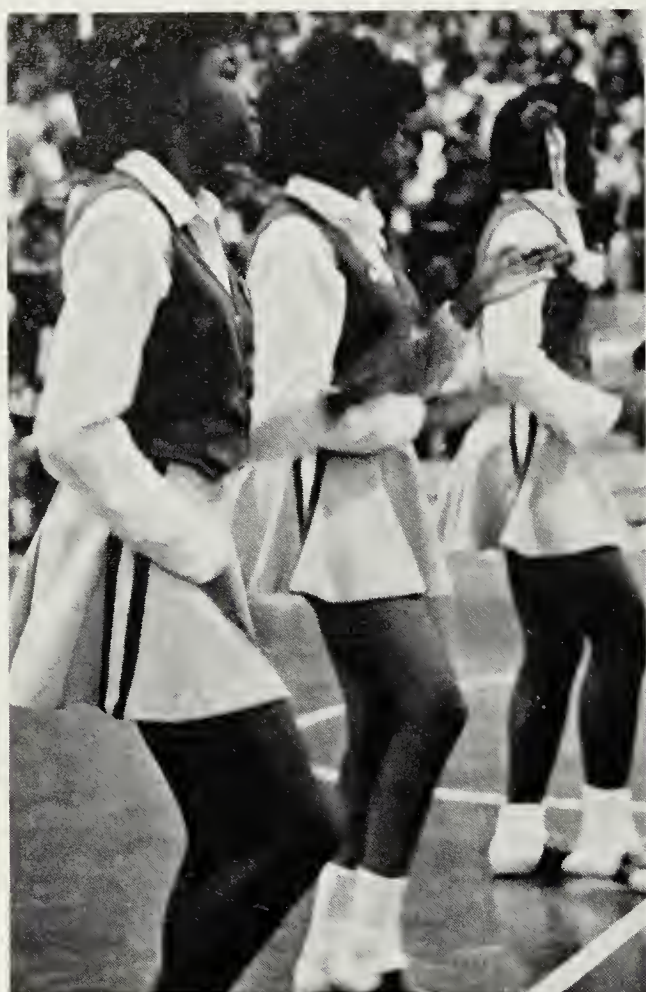

Conditioning plays a large part of how well a team will do during the season. Running played an important part of the pre-season practices. Here Matthew Taylor, T.C. Kaiser, Peter Waldeck and Jim Glass finish their laps.

Tom Kaiser, a Senior, moves over to tennis from baseball. Tom is also fighting to make the top six—the ones who compete in the matches.

In 1982 eight Junior Varsity Cheerleaders were chosen to represent Phoebus High School. Like the Varsity Cheerleaders the J.V. worked hard to be a great squad. Junior Varsity is responsible for cheering at Junior Varsity football games, Junior Varsity basketball games and half of the girls' basketball game.

For tryouts, these girls came from Junior High School and participated in practice and tryouts at Phoebus for two straight weeks after school. At the end of this clinic was the final evaluation in which the cheerleaders were judged on rhythm, spirit, appearance and precision. The top eight girls were then selected.

Tryouts consisted of learning two cheers, designing one cheer, performing one stunt and one pom pom routine. The girls also had to execute six jumps; the herky, russian, three-way, A jump, back and side C. The girls were also scored on spirit, smiles and appearance.

JV's Suffer, Win But One

by Tim Beckett

The JV football squad was coached by Mr. Bertram Sexton, the principal at Davis Junior High and Mr. Gary Spears, a teacher at Spratley. The squad consists of 13 Sophomores and 12 Freshmen. The 82-83 season was a losing one for the JV Phantoms. Like Varsity, JV defeated Warwick at Warwick 12-6. The only points scored were by Ronald Wynder, a Sophomore. Unfortunately, this was the only game won. The Junior Varsity lost six of their seven games. Oscar Mater, A Sophomore received the MVP award. The JV squad, despite its record, should provide some excellent support for next year's varsity squad.

JV's Finish Strong

The Junior Varsity Basketball Team, coached by Mr. Al Lewis, experienced a 6-10 season. Victories were few and far between, however valuable experience was gained by the players.

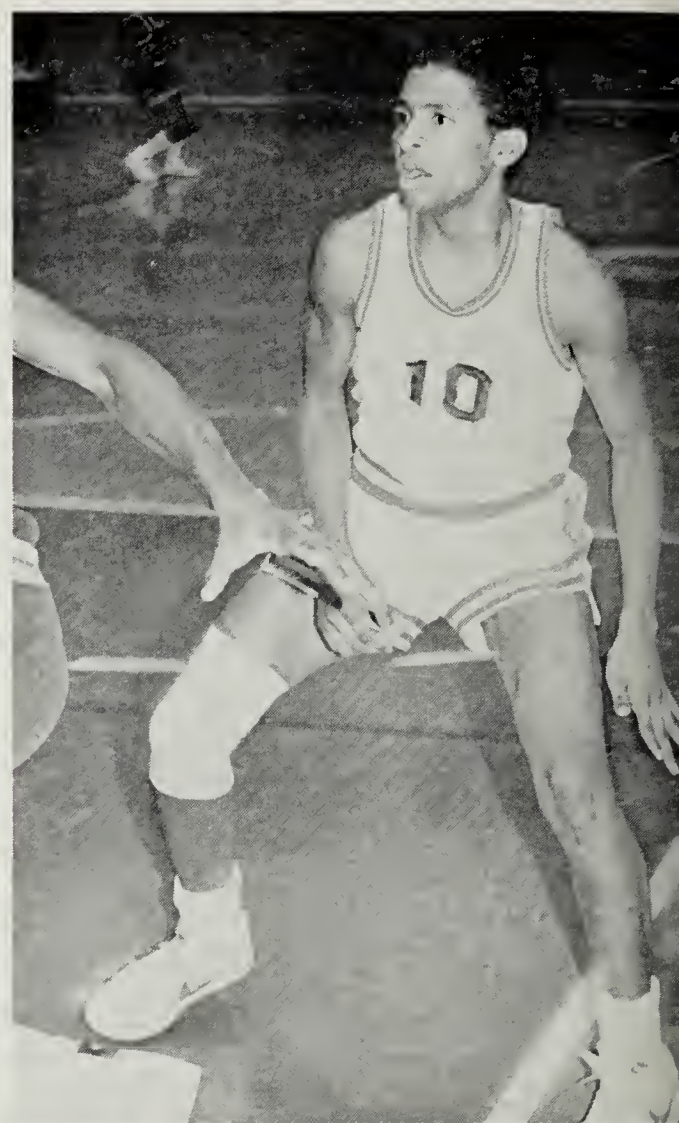

The Hampton High Schools, hampered by a program that does not have Junior High School sports, must draw heavily on Sophomores for its Junior Varsity squads. Valuable playing and coaching experience which should be provided in the Junior Highs is missing.

Having ninth grade in the Junior Highs in lieu of the high school also hampers the high school program. The Junior Highs finish classes about 45 minutes after the high schools and many students lack means of getting to the high school for practice sessions.

Donnell Fleming guards against the in-bound pass. This was the first game of the season and Kecoughtan went on to win.

Mark Hudson prevents a Kecoughtan shot. Tight defense kept the score close for a half. It was the opening game for each team.

Donnell Fleming drives in for a lay-up in the second quarter of the game at Kecoughtan. Kecoughtan eventually pulled away for a 69-48 win.

Shelton Darns goes up for a short jump-shot. Inexperience plagued the team early in the season as they lost their first three games.

Hit For The Fence

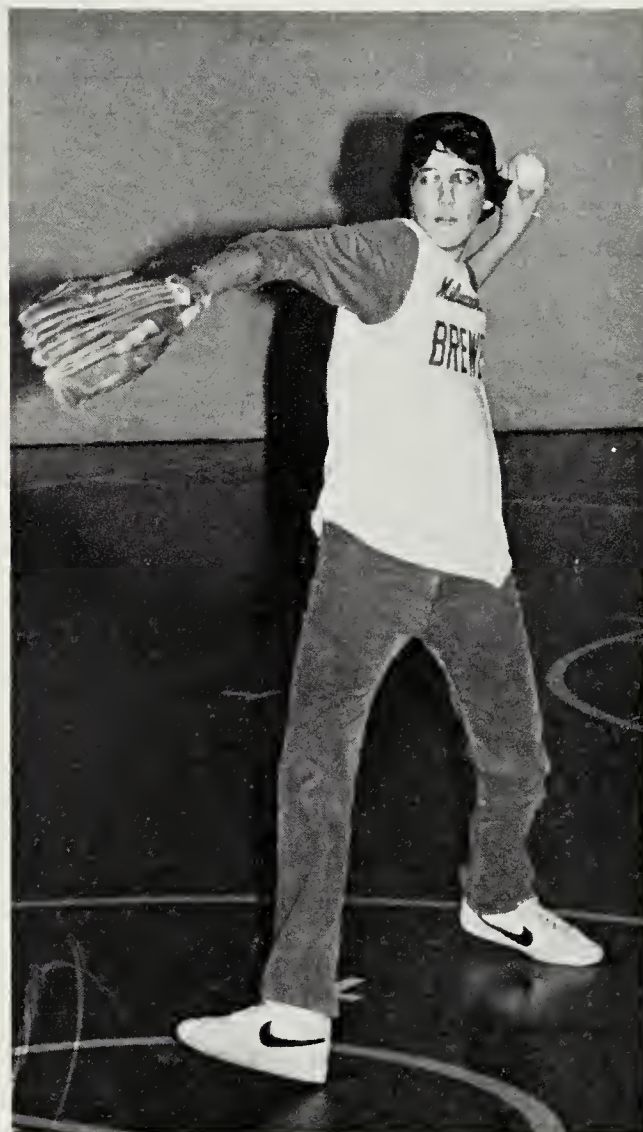

by Ruth Strong

The JV Baseball season is beginning with high hopes this spring. Coach Killen thinks that the team will "Fare Well", though they may have a hard time matching the 11-0 record of last years team. Fortunately there are many good pitchers on the team this year. The team consists of ninth and eighth graders, who come to PHS from the Junior High Schools, and combine with our Sophomores to give us a positive outlook on JV Baseball.

ORGANIZATIONS

The ROTC unit marches in the Christmas Day Parade.

REMEMBER WHEN

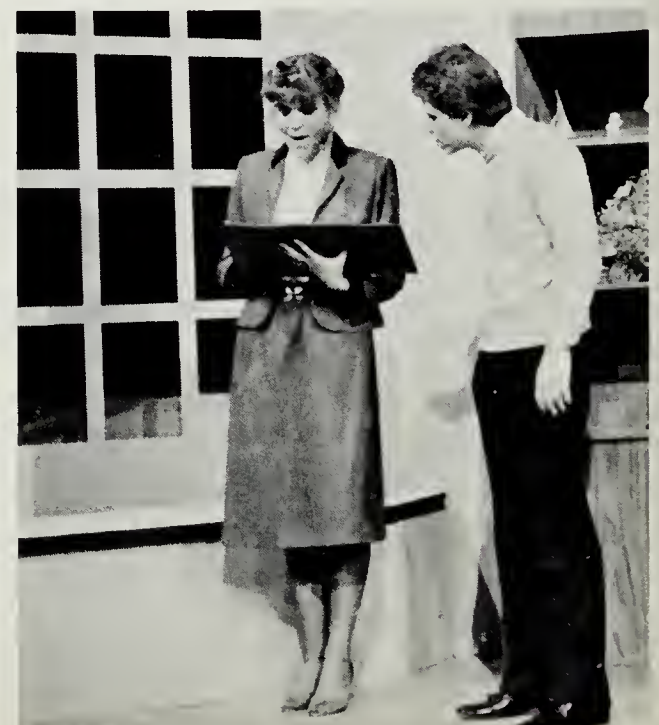

Remember when you and your best friend came to Phoebus High School and wanted so much to become popular. You were too shy to go up to people and introduce yourself so you tried to join every possible club and organization.

More than likely, you met a lot of nice people. Also, you had a lot of fun in the clubs you joined. Besides, having a good time, you probably achieved and learned a great deal from these organizations. For instance, the Key Club and Keyettes are an example of a service organization. They take part in many community projects in the aiding of other people.

An advantage to joining a school club is that it proves to be an asset on your college transcript.

Phoebus High School offers something for everyone with the average of 25 clubs. Each student that is a member of a club becomes a better person in all areas.

Keyettes Serve Community

The Phoebus High Keyette Club is composed of thirty-eight members (including two honorary members). These girls all contribute to their community and school through service projects. Some of the school projects were selling homecoming flowers in October, forming a pep committee to cheer on the football team and selling candy-grams in February for Valentines Day.

Their participation in community projects was shown in the Thanksgiving Food Drive, where over $300 was collected along with canned goods to be donated to the Ronald McDonald House. McDonald calendars were also sold.

Donations were given to Toys for Tots, The Joy Fund, and SIDS (Sudden Infant Death Syndrome) through bake sales and other fund raising projects. These are just some of the things the group has done.

The officers were: Mary Campbell, President; Dawn Leonard, Vice President; Mary Jo Dorsey, Treasurer; Thu Phan, Secretary; Cherie Furlow, Historian; Ruth Strong, District Representative; Tracy Chappell, Parliamentarian.

The Keyettes would like to thank sponsor, Mrs. Barbara Thomas, for all her help and guidance and the Math Department for all of their support.

PHANTOM BAND 82-83

by Mary Campbell

The band courses at Phoebus offer students the opportunity to learn more about music and enrich their talent. The courses offered are concert band and symphonic band which perform concert music and stage band which performs mostly jazz.

Each year the band participates in the Phoebus Day Parade and the Hampton Christmas Parade. They play at a few pep rallies, at every home football game and give an annual Christmas concert for the students the day before vacation.

This year, the band has given fall, Christmas, winter and spring concerts. They have also played at McDonalds and participated in the Joy Fund concert, the Symphonic Band Festival and the Stage Band Festival.

Some of the members choose to participate in the Solo and Ensemble festival where they are graded on performance. They may also try out for Regional and All City Band. There were four students who made Regional: Glen Mingee on Trombone, Rodney Monk on Trumpet, Lamar Prater on Bassoon, and David Silverthorn on Tympani and Snare Drum. There were thirty four students who made All City Band, which was the majority of the band.

Special Thanks are given to Mr. Al Morris, our sponsor, for everything, and to Mrs. Elaine Larison and Mrs. Arline Silverthorn who helped wherever they were needed.

MAJORETTES: Linda Pleasants, Joan Phillips, Carolyn Phillips.

Frances Edwards and Devin Shelby perform at half time of the Ferguson game. The band showed Halloween spirit by dressing in various costumes.

Also during the Christmas season they performed for the Phoebus Womens Club, McDonalds on Mercury Blvd., the student body Christmas assembly, and along with the other High School choral ensembles and A'Cappellas, for the Daily Press Christmas Fund Concert. The Soundation Sensation sings modern songs along with gospel and jazz music.

A'Cappella sings mainly religious songs. This large group brings out much harmony with its defined blending. Their unique sound filled up the auditorium at all choral concerts.

ROTC Marches On

Planning for a career in the Armed Services? If so, then the Marine Corps Junior ROTC program may be for you. If you enroll in ROTC in high school and enlist in the service you will be able to start at a higher grade than if you enlist without the ROTC background. ROTC also provides valuable experience for students planning on going to college to receive a Commission as an officer. The instruction provided by the MJROTC program will give the student a sound base which will give him an advantage over a non-military person.

Cadet Commander Judi Bowman leads the ROTC unit in the Christmas Day parade. Joe Parker serves as guideon for the unit.

This year's ROTC unit was headed by Cadet Commander Judi Bowman, the first female at Phoebus to hold this position.

The ROTC unit is shown marching in the Christmas Day Parade. The event was held the Saturday after Thanksgiving.

Experience on the rifle range is provided for students. Students get a chance to improve their marksmanship and learn to handle a rifle.

Math Honor Society

by Lori Shaler

The Mu Alpha Theta Chapter of the National Math Honor Society is one of the more active clubs at Phoebus. Its members must meet certain requirements for admission into the club, and must maintain a high average in their math course to remain a member.

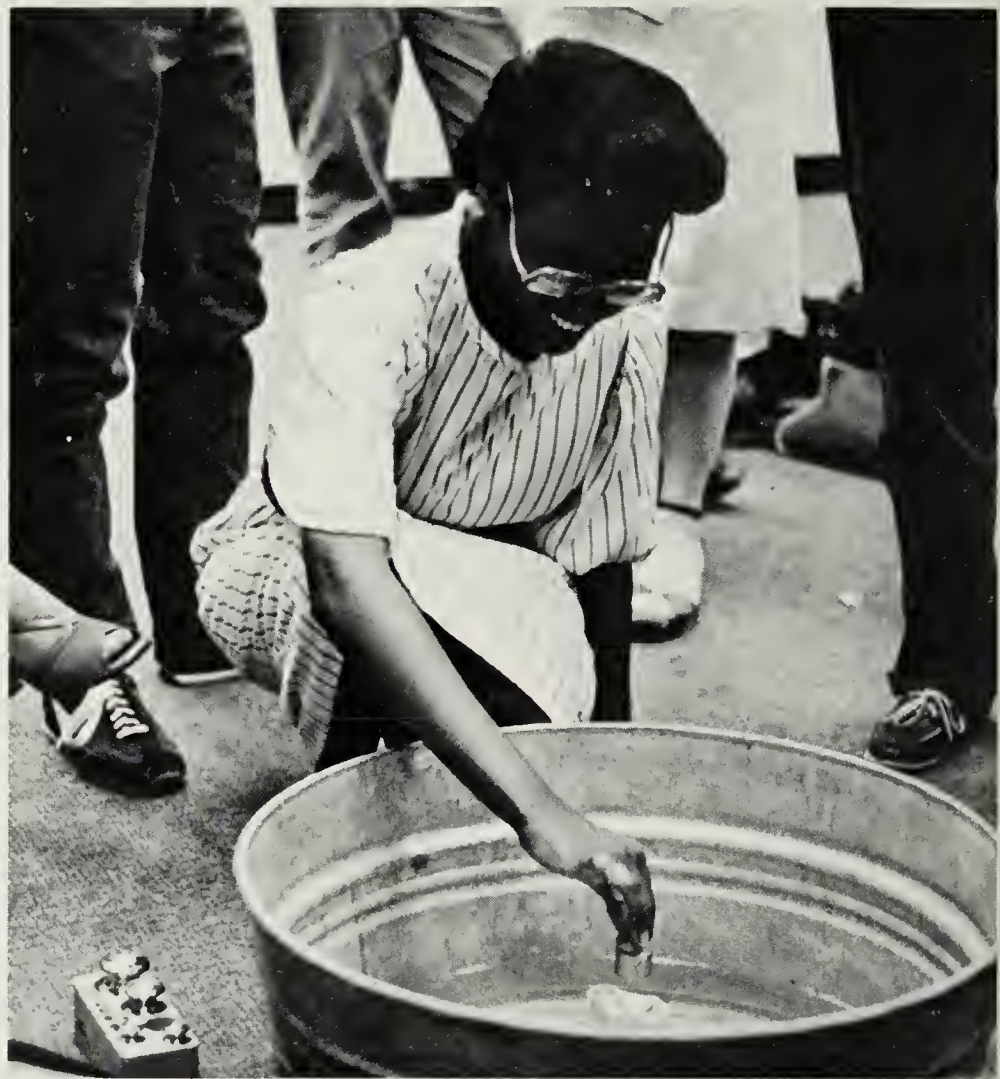

The club takes pride in the fact that its members offer tutoring sessions in math to any Mu Alpha Theta held their annual egg-drop contest on December 8, 1982. Mike Diaz won first place for having the lightest container. student every Tuesday after school. In addition to these sessions, Mu Alpha Theta members attempt to involve students in activities by sponsoring math bulletin board problems, barge building contests, egg-drop container contests, kite flying contests, and other entertaining activities.

The society is led by Lori Shaler, President; Thu Phan, Vice President; and Amy King, Secretary-Treasurer.

Shandra Fields is shown participating in the barge building contest sponsored by the Math Honor Society. The object was to make a container out of a piece of aluminum foil that would support the greatest weight.

One of the main purposes of the Math Honor Society is to tutor students who need extra help. Sandy Burgess is shown assisting Kathleen Madigan with Trig.

Math Honor Society inductions were held on November 11, 1982. Pictured being inducted as President by Karen Vanriter is Lori Shaler.

Phantasm Sold Here

by Lisa Weihl

Last Fall, the Phoebus High School Newspaper, Phantasm, received a second place ranking by the Virginia High School League Evaluation. Mrs. Linda Smith, who took the job of newspaper supervisor for the first time this past year, hopes to keep up the good work.

Mrs. Smith puts high standards upon her students in order to achieve their grades. Students are required a certain amount of articles per issue. Articles can vary from humorous editorial to serious, informative articles.

After the students write their articles and proof them, the next step is spacing. Spacing, as easy as it may seem, can become a time consuming and

When spacing is completed, the article must be typed and prepared for layout. Layouts can become mathematical mazes for those new to the system. Layouts must be precise when doing them without professional assistance.

Each student is required to get two ads per issue or five turn downs. Ads are very important for the newspaper because they help to finance the printing for the paper.

The newspaper came out every other month (October, December, February, April, and June). As you can see, putting out the newspaper took a lot of preparation, hard work, and loyalty.

Tracy Sigler, Reggie Haynes, and Tobi Cole are working hard to meet the next deadline. The paper comes out bi-monthly.

Thespians Present "NIGHTWATCH"

by Carol Werner

The 1982-83 Phoebus High School Drama Club has had a very active year. At the first meeting the new officers were elected. The President was Carol Werner; Vice President, Ruth Strong; Secretary, Connie Looby; Treasurer, Nancy Morelli; and Robbie Lloyd was elected to the office of Historian. Mr. Sylvest was the advisor. Members have learned by experience. By working on the school productions, both on and off the stage, students gain confidence in their abilities.

The Drama Club sponsored two dinner theatre productions at Phoebus this year. Auditions for the first production, Lucille Fletchers "Nightwatch", were held early in the year for the December 10, 11 performances.

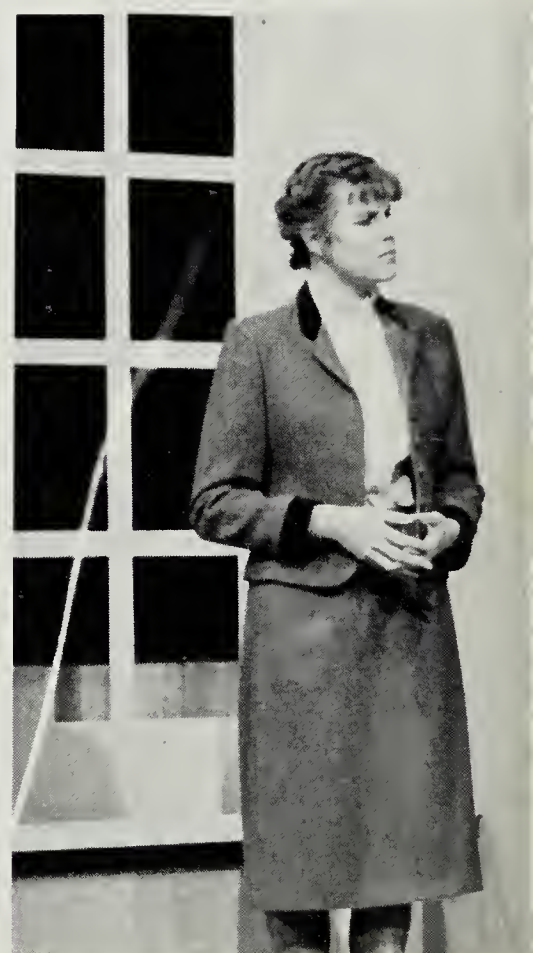

Kathleen Madigan made her theatre debut as the neurotic Elaine Wheeler. David Tambling played the role of her unsympathetic husband, John Wheeler. As in many mysteries there is "another woman" played by Valerie West as Blanche Cooke. Appleby, a writer for the "Kips Bay Tatler", was the Wheelers neighbor, portrayed by Parrish Crosby. Ruth Strong played the Wheelers nose maid, Helga, who suspected the affair between John and Blanche. Lisa Weihi played Dr. Tracey Lake, a psychiatrist hired by John to talk to Elaine about the dead man she saw and its possible relationship to her deceased first husband. Lane Bailey played Police Lieutenant Walker, who was investigating the "murder". Floyd Showalter was in the role of Police officer Vanelli, Lieutenant Walkers sidekick. Of course, Principal Harry B. Dyche appeared as delicatessen owner, Sam Hoke. The show was a definite success.

A buffet dinner, set up by the food services class, was prepared and served before the play. Shown serving are Carolyn Burks, Pauletta Smith, Sylvia Daniels and Dee Dee Toliver.

Elaine Wheeler tries to convince the police lieutenant (Lane Bailey) and his sergeant (Floyd Showlater) that she saw a dead body in the building next door while her husband John (David Tambling) looks on.

Blanche Cook (Valerie West), Elaine's best friend and John Wheeler's lover, portrays the mixture of emotion that is found in Lucille Fletcher's "Nightwatch".

In the Phoebus High School Dinner theater production of "Nightwatch", Kathleen Madigan plays Elaine Wheeler, a woman who murders her husband and his lover.

Curtis Appleby (Parrish Crosby), the Wheelers nosy neighbor, is shown talking about the dead body in the building next door.

DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) is a club here at Phoebus designed to help young students develop careers in marketing and distribution.

Hero (Home Economics Related Occupations) is a co-curricular organization for students here at P.H.S. who are members of occupational home economics classes. The club members participate in such things as fund raising and community service activities.

Francis Hensley sells candy to Phoebus High School Student. The Book Store is open to students in the morning and sells candy, paper supplies and T-shirts.

Mr. Dale Rose, Science supervisor for the city, demonstrates how to melt pewter and cast different objects. Mr. Rose visits each of the schools during the year to give demonstrations and take students on field trips. Shown watching are Gene Paranuck, Trygve Matsuda, John Thomas, David Fahrenkrug, Phillip Hunt, Teresa Kinzie, Tanya Person and Sharon Ingram.

Conny Loobey puts the finishing touches on her ginger-bread house as Roger Barnes looks on.

This year's National Honor Society is composed of nine Seniors. A certain grade point average and class standing must be maintained to be a member.

The Foreign Language Club helps promote student involvement and the learning of other cultures. Each year a student from another country sponsored by a family of a Language Club member.

Two other clubs are the Literary Magazine and Forensics. They try to involve students in writing and public speaking.

Karen Osborne, Jackie Gause, Michelle Cundiff, Sharon Ingram and Mary Stevens look over last years Literary Magazine. The magazine publishes some of the best of the students' writing skills.

The Key club is a non-profit organization that services the community. They helped with the Thanksgiving food drive, collected money from paper drives to aid an underprivileged child from South America and gave money to other organizations in need of funds.

The FBLA provides an opportunity for students to pursue jobs in the business related area.

The SCA assisted in the support for the Toys for Tots Christmas program and aided in obtaining the wheelchair for Steve Crum. Along with other things they tried to booster school spirit by sponsoring both Homecomings, Anything Goes Day, and Stand up for America Day.

This is how they appeared on the TV screen. Rob Wingate, Wesley Rice, Ruth Strong and Billy Wiese represented us in the Tidewater Challenge-a quiz competition among schools. Deep Creek won the contest by a score of 430-290.

The guidance department had several speakers come to give job related talks to students. Judith Baroody of WVEC TV channel 13 was giving a talk about the ins and outs of TV reporting.

Staff Meets Deadlines

by Lisa Weihl

The yearbook staff worked extra hard this year in order to put out one of the best yearbooks that Phoebus High School has ever seen. We attended workshops at Longwood College, June 13-16, 1982, and Richmond on Sept. 25.

The staff worked 6th period and occasionally after school. Our dedication brought us to school over the Christmas holiday and various other school breaks in order to do our best. It took up a lot of our free time but in the end it was worth it.

The staff was assigned many jobs. Editor Lisa Weihl wrote stories, helped with organizing layouts and pictures, and edited stories. Editor Karen Moody became our official typist doing most of the typing. She edited stories and captions. Linda Heffers wrote stories, organized class pictures, and helped to lay out the individual class sections. Sharon Goodwin and Amy King wrote stories, helped with pictures and did "class" layouts. They became our official "drink gophers". Tim Beckett wrote stories and dug up needed information. He was always available when needed.

Sandy Burgess and Kathleen Madigan specialized in layouts and wrote stories along with Mary Campbell and Jennifer Dougherty. Robin Dunn and Mr. Sherrard were the photographers.

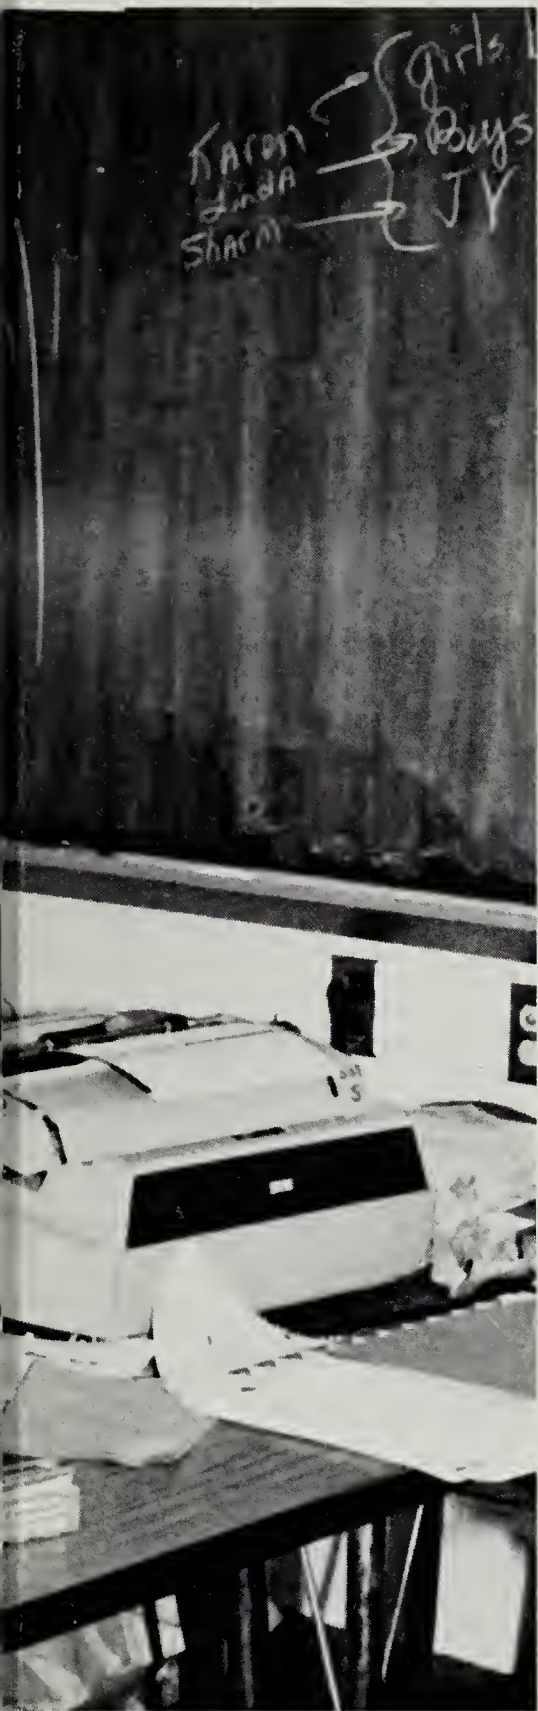

This years yearbook staff hopes to turn out the best yearbook ever. Hopefully this will present a challenge to the future yearbook staff members to strive to get better and better every year.

Sandy Burgess and Kathleen Madigan work at a lay-out for the 1983 Spectre. Both came in during their spare time to help the staff out.

A Farewell To Seniors

by Lisa Weihl

As we leave the halls of Phoebus High School, memories of our three years here will forever echo in our minds. Thoughts of classes, teachers, friends and good times will be tucked away inside each of us being brought out occasionally for reminiscing.

Graduation will mean many things to different people. For some it will be happiness, the satisfaction of knowing that we finally made it to the point in our lives that we always dreamed about and looked forward to. For others it will be sadness. It's always hard to say goodbye to the people that have meant so much to you. We've grown and matured together. We've helped one another to strive and achieve our goals. We've teased, laughed and joked with one another and soon we'll be saying farewell to one another.

It's time for each of us to move on and pursue our careers, to make something of ourselves and our lives. Hopefully we will look back with happiness and never forget the good times that we've shared during our years at Phoebus High School.

It's Time For Movin On

composed by Don Besig

We've traveled a long, long time together
And there have been a lot of good things on the way
But now it's almost time for leavin'
And the things I feel inside are very hard to say
But it's time for moving on my friend hold back all the tears and sorrow
It finally is time to go our separate ways
And I want to wish you well, my friend
As we search for new tomorrows

Don't forget the yesterdays
Remember the dreams we dreamed together
All of the joys we shared in getting to today
Now just one time before you leave me
Reach out and take my hand and help me walk away
For it's time for moving on my friend
Hold back all the tears and sorrow
